CALL RINI-CHORGAS JURORS

INITIATIVE VOTE ON MAYOR'S PAY SLASH ASKED

Today

There Is No Such Issue.
Mr. Kerensky Is Mistaken.
One Citizen Is Better.
For Railroad Men.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has been asked for an expression on a third term at an early date. He is asked to state his views on that question, as Governor Smith did concerning Catholicism.

THERE is no reason why Governor Smith should have answered more or less impertinent questions about his religion unless he chose to do so. He answered ably. A sufficient answer would have been:

"My religion is none of anybody's business. If you doubt that, read the Constitution of the United States."

AS for Mr. Coolidge "facing the issue of a third term," there is no such issue.

George Washington was elected presidence once, twice and could have allowed himself to be nominated and elected a third term and a fourth term, but he felt that such a program might lead to restoring monarchy, which he had recently eliminated.

Other presidents have been satisfied with two elective terms as president. It seems to be a good idea, although there is no law about it.

THE other day Kerensky, now traveling in America, who had for a short time the pleasure of living in the czar's palace and is here to denounce Bolshevism, said that it was worse than czarism. He may change his mind now that an admirer of the czar has slapped his face at a public banquet.

Whatever else it may be, Bolshevism is an improvement on czarism, for the reason that it teaches the people of Russia to read and write and uses public moneys to feed half starved children.

BOLSHEVISM will not last because it is based on communism, a doctrine that calls for universal unselfishness and co-operation. No doctrine of that kind will work in this century, or the next, or the next.

Bolshevism will work out into a form of government such as we have here, expressing the period in which that government exists. In other words, organized money, intelligently directed, taking what it wants and giving the people enough to keep them well fed and contented.

RAILROAD men, doing their best to help stockholders, as they are bound to do, have concentrated on getting increased passenger fares and freight rates from the public authorities, and that has seemed good business. The time is not far off when good business will consist in finding a way to carry passengers and freight for less and thus making more money.

THE danger to the railroads is a small ridiculous looking thing on four wheels running along the highway, paralleling the highway on a "right of way" that costs the motor omnibus

Proposal to Cut Salary to $600 Annually Will Go On Ballot in November

Notice of Submission of Economy Measure is Served Upon City Auditor W. M. McGraw.

497 PETITIONERS ARE NECESSARY

Decision is Aftermath of Council's Rejection, by 4 to 3 Vote, of Plan to Reduce Payroll.

Proposed reduction of the mayor's salary from $1,800 to $600 a year will be submitted to a decision of the electorate of East Liverpool at the general election on Tuesday, November 8, it was announced today.

Text of Ordiance.

Formal notice of the call for a vote on an initiative ordinance, which, if approved, will become effective on and after January 1, 1928, was served during the forenoon upon City Auditor William M. McGraw.

Attorney G. Y. Travis, representing the petitioners, submitted the copy of the proposed initiative measure.

The ordinance reads as follows:

An Ordinance Establishing the salary of the Mayor of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, from and after the first day of January, 1928.

Be it ordained:

Section 1. That from and after the first day of January, 1928, the salary of the mayor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, shall be Six Hundred Dollars ($600.00) per year, payable Fifty Dollars ($50.00) monthly.

Section 2. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

File 40 Days Before Election.

J. S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the county election board, ruled that the vote should be taken in November, instead of August, when the primaries will be held.

Petitions must be filed with the auditor at least 40 days prior to the general election, or on or about Sept 28.

After retaining the petitions ten days for public inspection, the auditor shall certify them to the election board.

To Circulate Petitions.

Circulation of petitions will begin at once, it is said. Petitions must contain at least 10 per cent of the vote cast at the last mayoralty election, November, 1925.

The official poll announced following the election was: Benedum, Democrat, 3,158; Wilson, Republican, 1,807, or a total of 4,965.

Based on this figure, the petitions must contain at least 497 signers.

The initiative movement is an aftermath of council's defeat of a measure introduced a few weeks ago by Solon George Hughes. This proposal, also calling for a $600 salary, was rejected by a vote of 4 to 3. Councilmen Hughes, Kommel and Hayes supported it, while it was opposed by Solons Farrall, Goodballet, Kelly and Poole.

Two years ago, councilmen enacted a salary-slashing measure, but it was vetoed by the then mayor, Charles Brown.

President Calles Of Mexico Extends Olive Branch to U. S.

MEXICO CITY, April 27.—President Calles in a long statement called forth by President Coolidge's New York speech, Monday evening, today declared "it is not only possible but easy to reach a friendly settlement of the differences existing between the United States and Mexico."

President Calles said he heartily agreed with President Coolidge's suggestion that differences, which are susceptible of solution by negotiation, be approached in a friendly spirit by both sides.

The Mexican executive declared that he favors negotiation rather than arbitration.

President Calles seized this occasion again to deny that the Mexican constitution or the new property and petroleum laws are confiscatory in spirit or will cause confiscations through their operation

GRAY'S STORY OF LOVE CRIME READ IN COURT

Jury Hears Salesman's Confession in Snyder Slaying.

BRUTAL MURDER

Blames Woman for Killing of Art Editor.

COURTHOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 27.—Henry Judd Gray's signed confession, giving a detailed story of the brutal slaying of Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," was read to the jury by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe today at the trial of Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder for first degree murder.

The confession was admitted as evidence after a vigorous battle on the part of Gray's counsel to prevent its admission on the ground it was obtained under duress. The statement was signed in the office of the district attorney at 1:05 a. m. on March 22, 1927.

Difference In Confessions.

Gray's astounding confession differed in one essential point with Mrs. Snyder's confession which was read to the jury yesterday.

Mrs. Snyder said she stood in the hall while the corset salesman clubbed her sleeping husband with an iron sash weight. Gray, in his confession, said that when he got through hitting the man, she "belabored" him with the weight too.

"She made several other attempts to kill her husband," Gray also revealed. "In two instances she gave him sleeping powders or turned on the gas. I think she gave him bichloride of mercury when he was sick with hiccoughs."

Gray said for two weeks before the murder, while the plan that succeeded was concocted, he was "in a literal hell."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 27.—Former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, 65, died in his home here today after an illness of two weeks from heart trouble.

Two weeks ago Dr. William Snyder Thayer, professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, was called into consultation here, and the two physicians had held hopes of an early recovery, Dr. Emerson said.

The senator had been most cheerful last night and had joked with his friends. His physicians had not regarded his condition as serious.

Word was sent immediately to the senator's two children, Albert, Jr., a student at St. Mark's academy at South Borough, Mass., and Abigail, a student at Foxcrost academy near Washington, D. C.

At the senator's bedside at the time of his death were the two physicians and Mrs. Beveridge.

G. O. P. LEGISLATIVE LEADERS AND DEMOCRATIC OFFICIALS MAKE SEPARATE STUDIES OF STATE'S FINANCIAL CRISIS

By C. H. Haddox.

COLUMBUS, O., April 27.—Republican legislative leaders and Democratic state officials, versed in the financial affairs of state government, today continued their separate studies in efforts to solve the financial crisis confronting Buckeye state authorities.

G. O. P. legislative leaders, it was understood, were striving to determine what legislative action should be taken, when the solons reconvene here at 1:30 p. m., Monday, May 9, next.

Financial experts, in Democratic ranks, it was stated, are compiling statistics designed to support recommendations they propose to submit to Govrenor Vic Donahey soon, dealing with the condition of the state's finances, and which may guide the governor in such action as he may take on revenue-producing measures and on appropriation bills recently enacted by the Ohio legislature.

The nature of these contemplated recommendations has not been indicated.

Hint Special Session.

Intimate advisers of Governor Donahey today were silent relative to the report that the governor may call the legislators back in special session this summer, if the solons fail to take further action next month in an effort to remedy the state's financial distress.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, informed the governor of his estimate that the deficit in the state's general revenue fund will approximate $13,000,000 July 1, next, the beginning of the new state fiscal period.

Appropriations authorized by the present legislature total not less than $57,500,000 of state funds during the 18 months' period beginning July 1, next, it was stated.

Taking into consideration all measures, providing for increases in state taxes, passed at the present session, together with existing revenue-producing laws, state officials today estimated that not more than about $49,000,000 is in sight with which to pay the costs of state governmental activities during the 18 months' period.

Carpenter May Sponsor Bill.

This estimate embraces the expectation that the Aidler and Kumler measures, just passed, will provide an additional revenue of about $4,500,000 in state excise and corporation franchise taxes, and the belief that existing revenue-producing laws will yield about $44,500,000.

Even though the governor pares the appropriation measures to the fullest extent possible, it was claimed, the necessity for additional revenue-producing legislation will remain before the deficit in the state treasury can be wiped out.

Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville, Republican, chairman of the senate finance committee, was credited today with making a study of the state's financial situation with a view, possibly, to introducing a bill next month designed to yield additional money for the state's general revenue fund.

May Put Donahey "In Hole."

Some legislators, it was stated, favor the suggestion that the legislature pass another half-mill direct state tax levy bill, providing for collection of the tax next December, believing that the bill can be so worded as to meet with Donahey's approval.

Another legislative group is credited with opposing any further legislative action along this line, and with advising that no measures be passed over the governor's veto. Supporters of this proposal, it was stated, believe this would "put the governor in a hole"—politically—and would enable the Republicans to charge Donahey with responsibility for deficiency of state funds and curtailed highway construction.

G. O. P. LEGISLATIVE LEADERS AND DEMOCRATIC OFFICIALS MAKE SEPARATE STUDIES OF STATE'S FINANCIAL CRISIS

By C. H. Haddox.

COLUMBUS, O., April 27.—Republican legislative leaders and Democratic state officials, versed in the financial affairs of state government, today continued their separate studies in efforts to solve the financial crisis confronting Buckeye state authorities.

G. O. P. legislative leaders, it was understood, were striving to determine what legislative action should be taken, when the solons reconvene here at 1:30 p. m., Monday, May 9, next.

Financial experts, in Democratic ranks, it was stated, are compiling statistics designed to support recommendations they propose to submit to Govrenor Vic Donahey soon, dealing with the condition of the state's finances, and which may guide the governor in such action as he may take on revenue-producing measures and on appropriation bills recently enacted by the Ohio legislature.

The nature of these contemplated recommendations has not been indicated.

Hint Special Session.

Intimate advisers of Governor Donahey today were silent relative to the report that the governor may call the legislators back in special session this summer, if the solons fail to take further action next month in an effort to remedy the state's financial distress.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, informed the governor of his estimate that the deficit in the state's general revenue fund will approximate $13,000,000 July 1, next, the beginning of the new state fiscal period.

Appropriations authorized by the present legislature total not less than $57,500,000 of state funds during the 18 months' period beginning July 1, next, it was stated.

Taking into consideration all measures, providing for increases in state taxes, passed at the present session, together with existing revenue-producing laws, state officials today estimated that not more than about $49,000,000 is in sight with which to pay the costs of state governmental activities during the 18 months' period.

Carpenter May Sponsor Bill.

This estimate embraces the expectation that the Aidler and Kumler measures, just passed, will provide an additional revenue of about $4,500,000 in state excise and corporation franchise taxes, and the belief that existing revenue-producing laws will yield about $44,500,000.

Even though the governor pares the appropriation measures to the fullest extent possible, it was claimed, the necessity for additional revenue-producing legislation will remain before the deficit in the state treasury can be wiped out.

Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville, Republican, chairman of the senate finance committee, was credited today with making a study of the state's financial situation with a view, possibly, to introducing a bill next month designed to yield additional money for the state's general revenue fund.

May Put Donahey "In Hole."

Some legislators, it was stated, favor the suggestion that the legislature pass another half-mill direct state tax levy bill, providing for collection of the tax next December, believing that the bill can be so worded as to meet with Donahey's approval.

Another legislative group is credited with opposing any further legislative action along this line, and with advising that no measures be passed over the governor's veto. Supporters of this proposal, it was stated, believe this would "put the governor in a hole"—politically—and would enable the Republicans to charge Donahey with responsibility for deficiency of state funds and curtailed highway construction.

REDUCTION IN ALIMONY ASKED

FRESHMEN WIN TRACK EVENTS

First Year Girls Score 23½ Points to Cop Meet.

Wellsville freshmen girls have at least done their part toward bringing 1927 interclass track and field honors to the first year class. In the events that were completed yesterday the freshmen lassies scored a total of 23½ points, two points better than the sophomores, while the Juniors made 17 and the seniors none.

The scores made by the girl athletes will be added to the scores made by the boys and and the total for each class will decide its position in relation to the rival class teams.

Only three events have been run off in the boys' division thus far. Faculty Manager Trumbull announced today an effort will be made to complete the meet this afternoon, providing rain does not interfere.

The summary of the girls' events:

50-yard dash — Palleto, Freshman, first; Lucas, Sophomore, second; Irwin, Junior, third. Time, 7 and 5-tenths seconds.

80-yard dash — Palleto, Freshman, first; Lucas, Sophomore, second; Lewis, Sophomore, third. Time, 11 and 4-tenths seconds.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, works in the mailing room of a printing and book-binding establishment. A former fellow employe.

LUCILLE OVERMAN, takes her to the Earthwide Picture studio where she is seen by

ARMAND DE BRISSAC, famous director. He makes a screen test of Hattie and takes her to California with him to make a picture, "Bagdad." With her go

GRANDMA, old and lame, and

ALICE, Hattie's married sister and her baby, all dependent on Hattie. Hat becomes engaged to

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man, although she is fascinated by the director. De Brissac wants her to go with him on his yacht for a week's cruise, when the picture is finished, but Hattie refuses and leaves the Earthwide studio to work for Plantagenet. She finds she cannot work without De Brissac, however. She meets Lucille who advises her to go back to De Brissac. Alice's husband,

ARTHUR, has deserted her several years before but he comes back and adds himself to Hattie's responsibilities. Hattie and Henry go to a private showing of the finished picture which is a great success. De Brissac is to form his own company and wants her to work with him.

He offers her a contract at $1,000 a week.

She meets Henry for dinner that night and tries to tell him how she hates pictures and about De Brissac; that she wants to get married and settle modestly in a little home of her own. He cannot understand and when she realizes it she leaves him and goes to De Brissac.

The second picture. "Pharaoh's Daughter," is released and is an even greater success than "Bagdad."

Another picture is made and when it is finished De Brissac proposes that he and Hattie shall go East and make personal appearances with the first showing.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE.

The De Brissac complication disturbed her; it might easily spoil the experience. And yet this desire to see the big city once more, to look up her old friends, to be feted and acclaimed in that wonderful way by the public, even the desire to run away from Hollywood where she had been so continually excited and so bitterly if vaguely unhappy—all this was like an ache in her heart. Yes, she must go.

"See here, Hattie, you mean to say you don't know what's the matter with me?"

"Why, no . . . . Oh!"

Alice was nodding grimly.

"Yes, I'm going to have another one. You can't always forsee these things. We didn't—well, plan any such thing, of course. Not until Arthur could get on his feet more, but . . . "

She let that sentence die, too. Hattie, her color rising, was studying her plate. A fear that had quieted somewhat of late was painfully alive again. And with it a resentment . . . . in a queer way it seemed as if Alice and Arthur should have consulted her, or at least considered her. There would be no checking the expense of it—doctors, hospital, special nurses, and all.

She heard Alice's voice going on—

"If only Arthur now . . . he needs a shape-up so . . . . it would be wonderful for him . . . . I don't think you always realize how hard he works for us all . . . I encourage him all I can to get out and mix around. He likes people. He needs them. But he devotes himself absoluetly . . . ."

"I'll take Hedwig," said Hattie with the decisiveness of a child.

"But Hedwig could never look out for——"

"I'm going to take her." Hattie rose from the table. It was a bold step; but she was going, and not with Arthur, never with Arthur. She couldn't see her way . . . certainly she couldn't bring herself to tell De Brissac that Alice couldn't come . . . . but she was going. With Hedwig, in that compartment! Back East . . . . Harriet John! And she wondered if it was a Grand Canyon car. She hadn't yet seen the Grand Canyon.

There was no work at the studio. She went out to the garden behind the bungalow, walking and looking like a school girl in her simple blue dress and sweater and little white hat pulled down on her head. Arthur used the car a good deal. That was another small irritation. But it stood there in the garage; he had ridden over to Frank's with someone else today.

She drove over to Wiltshire Boulevard and turned in behind the Ambassador; parked her car there and strolled in quietly in along the corridor where the shops are that display Chinese and Japanese things and custom automobile bodies and fancy cigarettes and pretty things to wear. Somewhere in this labyrinth of corridors stood a rack of time tables. She had seen it. She lingered by the shop windows. It was stirring to know that she could, if she chose, step in through any one of these doorways and buy almost anything she wished. They'd gladly give her credit. She heard a group of tourists whispering among themselves and then, in the glass of a show-window, saw them glancing at her. She liked this. It was always happening nowadays, this being pointed out as the famous Harriet John. She lingered on to indulge fully in the luxury of it.

She found the rack, and took a brightly colored folder thta advertised the most popular trans-continental trains. There was a thrill in merely handling it. She folded it up and put it away in her bag; and then, very demurely, walked upstairs into the vast lounge and sat for a little while just because it was still a delight to know that she belonged here by right. Other groups recognized her. She tapped the arm of her chair with a slender finger and hummed very softly. New York! . . . . Harriet John!

She put the car back in its garage and entered the bungalow without a sign of expression on her pretty face.

Arthur met her at the door. He must have been watching there. He drew her a little way along the porch in his most important manner.

"I've taken the liberty, Hattie——" she wished that he wouldn't whisper in that eager way "of bring a young chap along home. He was at Fran's this noon. He's just passing through. Here's the point—he writes for one of the big magazines down East, one of the swell ones—and he was asking at lunch if there was any way he could get an interview with Harriet John. Just pure luck! I was right there. Here's the point—it's a big chance. Real publicity. The kind you can't buy. He's one of these highbrows that knocks the pictures. But he says that there's no other screen artist that holds out so much hope for better pictures. That's the line to follow see! Better pictures, Art!"

He would have said more, but Hattie turned away. Eagerly then he followed her within.

The young man had dropped into one of the big chairs in the living room. His name was Mr. Dempster. He was blonde, like herself; she saw

Farm Population

More than 2,000,000 people moved away from American farms last year, while a little more than 1,000,000 moved onto farms. It made a net movement from farm to city of 1,020,000. Natural increase of farm families brought down the net loss of farm population to 650,000.

That was to be expected, and is nothing to worry about. It has been evident, from the plight of the agricultural regions, that the people on the farms were able to produce more than the market could consume. The country can be fed and clothed, and the foreign market supplied with what it needs, with fewer farmers.

Improved machinery, methods and transportation make the difference. Agriculture just now is paying the price of progress. The loss of farm population is the natural remedy. Sooner or later a balance will be struck, and the rural sections will attain stable prosperity along with the industrial sections.

The Best Times

Some reporter asked Chauncey Depew, on his 93rd birthday, a question about "the good old times."

"There is no more rotten phrase," replied Depew. "All times are good times. The present time is the greatest time of all. These are good new times."

Of course they are. People who look to the past for perfection, lamenting their own time, not only lack historical understanding but lack practicality.

The present will doubtless stand comparison with any previous age, when every factor is considered. It we seem to lack spiritual progress, we have made plenty of progress in other fields, and have the stage all set now for progress in spiritual and idealistic things. And there is in this age at least a general spirit of kindliness that never prevailed before.

But we might ignore all the improvements the present has brought, and fall back on this supreme fact—that the present is better for us than any other time, past or future, could possibly be, because it is the time that is ours. It is the time we have for our life drama—the time in which we can live our present life and improve upon the past and contribute to the making of a better future.

The present is always best, because it is only in the present that man can act and grow and make destiny for himself and others.

The Greatest City

A writer who has been studying an American industrial section sometimes compared to the German Ruhr makes a remarkable prophecy about it.

In another half-century, he says, there will be what he calls "a continuous village" starting at Uniontown, Pa., extending to the west and north in a great crescent through Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit to Pontiac and Flint—a town 400 miles long and 60 miles wide in the thickest part, reaching into three states.

That will be "some village"! It really seems possible, judged by past development and present conditions.

Such growth will be highly profitable for business in that area. It will mean immense profits in real estate. Will it be so good for living conditions? That is doubtful. To millions of people, the prospect of living in a city of about 20,000 square miles will seem dreadful.

"No More Privacy"

A cartoon by Ireland in the Columbus Dispatch depicts poor little Mr. Public being chased off the earth by the X-ray, the periscope, the 200-mile-an-hour automobile, the airplaine, the radio and the television telephone. His cry as he leaps into space is "No more privacy!"

There are times when a good many persons feel, momentarily, that there are almost too many splendid new inventions and discoveries. Peace and quiet and privacy seem to be no more. If a person refuses to install any of these modern devices in his own home he often finds it hard to escape his neighbor's. Depression thereupon follows naturally enough.

Yet this feeling is not necessary. All of these things are potentially pleasant or useful to mankind. It is their wrong use only that makes them a plague and terror. Temperance and wisdom in their employment would make them appear wholly good and remove completely their seeming faults.

Alas! No one has yet invented anything that would make the whole human race immediately either temperate or wise.

Some folks are still dubious about business this year, but the Steel Trust, alias Business Barometer, is producing at 95 per cent capacity, in the evident expectation that somebody's going to buy and use the stuff.

Give Chiang Kai Shek a little time. Our own revolutionary war took eight years, and wasn't entirely over then.

Air mail is useful, but five to ten times the ordinary rate is too much for an ordinary letter.

It looks as if China may turn out half red and half yellow.

IT TOOK THAT LONG FOR THE APPLAUSE

An English vaudeville team came over here in the hope of landing an American engagement. They obtained an interview with a representative of E. F. Albee, head of the big eastern circuit.

They told him how clever they were, how new their songs were, how fresh their jokes, how spirited their banter. They showed him their scrapbook of press notices from British newspapers. He was impressed.

"Well," he said, when they were through with singing their own praises, "we'll give you a try-out in one of our houses. We'll put you on next Monday afternoon for the matinee at such-and-such a theatre."

Highly pleased, the visiting performers reached for their hats.

"Hold on," said the American, "I forgot one thing: How long does your act run?"

"Twenty minutes," stated the senior of the pair.

"That'll never do. We can't give a new patter act more than twelve minutes on one of our bills."

"Impossible!" exclaimed the spokesman. "Why, we bow for ten minutes!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—The other evening in one of those clattery chop houses on West 48th street I was hedged in at a center table alone. On the back of a menu I jotted down scraps of conversation floating from surrounding tables. Here they are, without change:

Josephine Baker did a split on a runway . . . Paris is quite worth while . . . Ella was trying to get on other station and got him . . . He's a western preacher and quite cultivated . . . And then a bum at the Doyers street mission told of being converted . . . He was a scream.

I've lived in New York 21 years and no one has ever said an unkind thing to me about the Jewish religion . . . I never did drink until lately. And I got to liking it. So I quit . . . There's a place opposite the Strand theatre where you can buy silk stockings until midnight.

George, dear, don't you think you'd better phone about the baby . . . I did that to put you wise. He saw you holding my hand. Now cut it out. . . Innes died in the 90's. Sargent has always been my favorite . . . Sometimes I spend an hour looking at one picture.

There's something about coffee in brass pots . . . He comes here every month from Columbus, O., and never brings his wife. She's either an invalid or terribly dumb . . . I like to read Mencken, but I prefer Nathan. They certainly write what they think.

Coney is all right, but I usually go to Long Beach. It has more class. . . Lulu was here the other day. Bert Savoy was hit by lightning . . . Waiter, what do you use around here for sugar? . . . I've tried for six Sundays to get in a movie. The only way is to go to some country town.

Her name was Edith, but she changed it to Edithya and went to live on The Drive . . . Paul Whiteman's face is painted on his orchestra drum. Good thing they didn't have to paint it on a flute . . .

And that is what a section of the great American public is thinking!

Giant corporations continue to depete newspaper ranks of crack men by giving them the post of "vice president in charge of public relations," which is the new glorification of the press agent job. In the past year five have gone to such positions, receiving salaries from $30,000 to $50,000 yearly.

Hospitality of a night club manager to a slightly objectionable revelerr: "You'd please a lot of customers around here by stepping into the alley and cutting your throat." So the patron haughtily paid his $28 check and departed and will likely stay away a week, just for spite.

The son of a New York actor is said to be Hollywood's highest salaried title writer, averaging $2,000 a week. Here is one of his titles:

"That bird reminds me of 'Sitting Bull'—only he out-bulls and out-sits him."

Chalked sign over the entrance to a 40th street wood and kindling cellar: "No credit to all."

New York tailors are thumbing down on extended credit. For many years it was the cute custom, if there was a balance at the end of the year, to send something to the tailor. One of the most exclusive establishments only sent out yearly statements and felt lucky if they were paid a year later. A number of smart places extend only a 30-day credit and a number of others operate on a strictly cash basis.

A certain rich Wall Streeter used to pay his tailor every five years. He was recently notified of the 30-day limit. He wrote on the bottom of the statement: "Close my account. My honesty hasn't changed, even if your system of collections has."

Uncle Sam's Films.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—During the season for field work which has just opened and will continue until September, Uncle Sam, as a movie producer, will make twenty new films. In the making of these motion pictures of the department of Agriculture, is sending three crews into the field. They will cover a large part of the United States this year, operating as far west as Utah.

Neither the names nor the subjects of the twenty new pictures will be announced. This, for the reason that if they were made public at this time the department would be overwhelmed with requests and demands for the films. Experience has taught those who handle government movies this lesson, which is regarded as the most conclusive evidence of the popularity of this particular line of Uncle Sam's numerous activities.

After the field work is over in September the fall and winter months will be devoted to editing, titling, cutting, and assembling the new films, and when they are completed and ready for distribution the public will be informed of their nature and given a chance to have them shown in all sections of the United States.

These pictures, along with those produced in years past, are intended primarily to aid in the extension work of the department of Agriculture and are distributed through the division that handles that and through cooperating state agencies. In addition, the films can be borrowed for exhibition purposes by farmers' organizations, schools, colleges, churches, community centers, theatres, or individuals, who are responsible and will guarantee the transportation charges both ways.

Also prints of any of the pictures may be purchased by organizations or individuals under authorization of the department from a commercial manufacturer at prices that have been established by competitive bidding. The prices range from $21 to $23 per reel of approximately 1,000 feet. Incidentally, it may be said, the government has been doing a fairly good business in selling prints of many of its pictures, a considerable number of them even having been titled in foreign languages and sold abroad.

Conditions Governing Purchase.

The conditions governing such purchases are that no changes be made in the subject matter of the films without approval from the department of Agriculture, that credit to the department be retained, and that no commercial advertising matter be added to or inserted in the films.

Each unit or crew that the office of Motion Pictures is now sending into the field consists of a director, a camera man, and a subject matter man, who is usually a scientist familiar with the lesson that the film to be made is expected to teach. The actors are secured in the localities where the scenes are shot. Usually they are amateurs of the purest ray serene. Sometimes the services of semi-professionals are enlisted, and occasionally professionals are engaged for the leads in pictures carrying a story that calls for real acting ability in its delineation.

Six new pictures have been added this spring to the already long list that had been produced and catalogued by the department. One of them tells the story of cooperative marketing in the United States, and is resigned to give a good idea of the extent of the movement and of the volume of business that is done by the various marketing organizations. Two of the new films were produced as educational features for the fight which the department is waging against the European corn borer.

Another is entitled "Mother Takes a Vacation" and depicts the activities of Farm Women's Vacation Camps conducted by state extension services in the West. It was photographed in Montana and Idaho. The fifth is somewhat similar in character and is called "The Family Goes to College." It shows the annual farmers' encampment at the Utah Agricultural college, how farmers from all over the state go there for the July short course, and what they do after they get there. The sixth tells the story of the short course for farm boy and girl club members at Washington State college and the University of Idaho, and of the relationship of an agricultural education to practical farming and home-making.

Many Pictures Available.

More than 225 pictures are now listed in the catalogue of the office of Motion Pictures, and their subject matter ranges from airplane "dusting" and airplane fire patrols to yaukon—which is another name for cassina, a beverage producing plant—and zoology. The growth of the service is shown in the rapid increase in the prints that the office has been called upon to supply. In 1922, 2066 shipments were made from the laboratory, and in 1926, 4276. More than 2,000,000 feet of film are now being circulated from the headquarters in Washington, and approximately an equal quantity is being circulated by the cooperating institutions and organizations.

No serious attempt has been made to estimate the size of Uncle Sam's motion picture audience, but obviously it is an immense one. It is equally obvious that it might be much larger but for the fact that the number of

Farm Population

More than 2,000,000 people moved away from American farms last year, while a little more than 1,000,000 moved onto farms. It made a net movement from farm to city of 1,020,000. Natural increase of farm families brought down the net loss of farm population to 650,000.

That was to be expected, and is nothing to worry about. It has been evident, from the plight of the agricultural regions, that the people on the farms were able to produce more than the market could consume. The country can be fed and clothed, and the foreign market supplied with what it needs, with fewer farmers.

Improved machinery, methods and transportation make the difference. Agriculture just now is paying the price of progress. The loss of farm population is the natural remedy. Sooner or later a balance will be struck, and the rural sections will attain stable prosperity along with the industrial sections.

The Best Times

Some reporter asked Chauncey Depew, on his 93rd birthday, a question about "the good old times."

"There is no more rotten phrase," replied Depew. "All times are good times. The present time is the greatest time of all. These are good new times."

Of course they are. People who look to the past for perfection, lamenting their own time, not only lack historical understanding but lack practicality.

The present will doubtless stand comparison with any previous age, when every factor is considered. It we seem to lack spiritual progress, we have made plenty of progress in other fields, and have the stage all set row for progress in spiritual and idealistic things. And there is in this age at least a general spirit of kindliness that never prevailed before.

But we might ignore all the improvements the present has brought, and fall back on this supreme fact—that the present is better for us than any other time, past or future, could possibly be, because it is the time that is ours. It is the time we have for our life drama—the time in which we can live our present life and improve upon the past and contribute to the making of a better future.

SOCIETY

Apollo Male Chorus Will Give Concert Here Friday Night

Featuring the program which will be presented by the Apollo Male chorus in the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock Friday evening will be Master Frederick Vogelgesang, six-year-old violinist, of Canton.

He will play four number, "Praeludum and Allegro" by Pagnanni Kreisler, "Minuette in D" by Haydn, "Razoczi March," arranged by Arthur Hartmann, and "Souvenir" by Franz Drdla.

Master Frederick has the gift of absolute pitch and can play 20 pieces from memory. He plays a small-sized violin, said to have been made in 1802. His tiny wrist has a facility that is almost uncannp and the baby fingers of the youthful artist make tones that are strong and true. His music is not automatic as one might expect from a child but has feeling and beauty worthy of a master.

More than 1,000 people are expected to attend the concert. The doors will open at 7 o'clock, the program starting one hour later. Sciatic-Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 which comes in capsult form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Continue faithfully and in a reasonable time you should be able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews' Med. Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

Millions of automobiles where there were but thousands—yet conventional motor car builders strive for greater speed instead of greater safety.

Sciatic-Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsult form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Continue faithfully and in a reasonable time you should be able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews' Med. Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

HEWITT, CONDEMNED SLAYER, MAY SEEK NEW TRIAL

BOY, 16, FACES DEATH CHAIR FOR KILLING

Conneaut Lad Silent, But His Mother Collapses.

SPEEDY VERDICT

Fred Brown, Husband and Father of Victims, Satisfied.

JEFFERSON, O., April 27.—Possibility of filing a motion for a new trial in the Floyd Hewitt murder case, was under discussion today by Defense Attorneys D. F. Dunlavy and F. R. Hogue, following conviction of the 16 year old Conneaut boy Tuesday afternoon on a first degree murder indictment.

The defense has three days in which to file such a motion.

Hewitt was mum today on the verdict which carried with it the extreme penalty. His mother, Mrs. Olive Hewitt, is in a state of collapse and under the care of a physician

Fred Brown, husband and father of the young woman and five year old boy who were slain in the Brown home at Conneaut last February 14, expressed satisfaction with the verdict.

"I believe justice has been done," he said.

Youngest to Face Electrocution.

The jury which convicted the youth deliberated but 65 minutes. The jurors took three ballots, one on the question of guilt, one on the degree of guilt; and one on recommendation of mercy. They reached unanimous agreement on each ballot.

Unless higher courts or the governor intervene, Hewitt will die in the electric chair at Columbus penitentiary August 10. Presiding Judge Charles R. Sargent pronounced sentence immediately after the jury reported.

Hewitt wil be the first person in the history of Ashtabula county to pay the death penalty, if the sentence is carried out, and perhaps the youngest person ever to be electrocuted in the state of Ohio.

Ex-Senator Beveredge

Born in Ohio.

Beveridge served eight years in the senate.

In 1912 he was chairman of the progressive national convention in Chicago, and went down to defeat with Roosevelt. He did not essay a return to public life until 1922, when he was nominated in the primaries, but failed of election.

Beveridge was born in Highland county, Ohio, on October 6, 1862, when his father and brothers were off to war. The elder Beveridge came home, at the ending of the war, in a bad financial way and moved the family to Indiana, where young Beveridge led a life of privation.

Early Life of Hardship.

He became a ploughboy at twelve, railway laborer at fourtten and teamster and logger at fifteen. He had a gift for combining words into high-sounding sentences and used to go out into the woods by himself and declaim to the trees—a sort of Demosthenes, who substituted the forest for the seashore.

He conceived the ambition of going to West Point, but was penalized several points during the examinations when he laughed at a joke and lost the examination by 1-5 of 1 per cent

A neighbor loaned him $50. and he matriculated at De Pauw university, working his way through as steward in an eating club and by peddling books during vacations. He won most of the college awards, including the $100 prize for oratory. He rapidly developed into an orator and soon was able to outdistance the crack university speakers in the Middle West.

He carried away from the university a bachelor's and master's degree.

After a breakdown and convalescence on a western ranch he returned to Indianapolis and passed the bar examinations.

As a full-fledged lawyer he fought the local political machine, was appointed counsel in big litigations and won his first real political experience in the campaign of James G. Blaine in 1884, when, at twenty-two, he gained the sobriquet of "the Boy Orator."

He had been an indefatigable writer and in 1912 wrote a book called "Invisible Government." It attracted national attention. He crowned his library work in 1919 with the "Life of John Marshall," first Chief Justice of the United States. He was noted as a lecturer on John Marshall and on the Bible.

President Sends Condolence.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The sudden death of ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, came as a shock today to officialdom in the capital, where he had many friends.

President Coolidge sent the following message of condolence to Mrs. Beveridge:

"It is with a feeling of personal loss that I have learned of the passing of your distinguished husband. In scholarship, in literature and in politics he was a great American figure. I express to you and your family the sympathy of Mrs. Coolidge and myself."

Coolidge Ignores "Smoke Out" Plan on Third Term Issue

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The first really serious effort to "smoke out" President Coolidge on the third term issue has come to naught.

Mr. Coolidge, it was announced at the White House today, will ignore the open letter addressed to him yesterday by the Forum magazine, in which he was challenged to present his views to the country on the proposition that no president should attempt to continue in office beyond the traditional eight years established by George Washington.

The challenging letter was written by John Carter of New York, and was designed to give Mr. Coolidge an opportunity to present his views to the country in the same manner that Gov. Al Smith recently defined his views on religion in replying to an open letter in the Atlantic Monthly.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 27.—A tendency to higher prices in the motor and public utility stocks was the principal feature of the early trading in the stock market today. The railroad stocks were firm, with Bangor and Aroostock continuing sensational advance to 81¾, compared with yesterday's low price of 68. Steel and oil stocks were firm but inactive.

Early selling of United States Steel common was based on the shrinkage of first quarterly earnings as compared with the final quarter of 1926, but buying demand was strong, and the stock rallied to Tuesday's closing price level. General Motors at 193 had regained practically all of the ground lost in Monday's violent slump., while Chrysler Motor, Hudson Mack Trucks and Packard sold up in good form.

The bullish forces pressed their advance against the bears in a number of market favorites, including a good volume of short coverings of stocks sold on Monday. Despite the 26,000 barrel daily increase in crude oil output last week, the oil stocks were firm, with Pan American up a point, and numerous Standard and indpendent oil shares up a fraction to full point or more. Houston snapped back to 113½ for a 4-point gain.

RESCUE 3,000 REFUGEES AT ARKANSAS CITY

Marooned People Taken to Pine Bluff and Helena.

FOOD ARRIVES

Little Change in Mississippi Flood Conditions.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 27.—Rescue operations centered today at Arkansas City, where 3,000 refugees have been marooned for 48 hours. They were being taken by barges to Pine Bluff and Helena, Ark.

Otherwise, flood conditions in the Mississippi delta were unchanged today. Greenville and surrounding towns were still under water but most of the refugees have been taken to Vicksburg for safety.

A steady stream of supplies of all sorts—food, clothing, tents, first aid kits—were sent from Memphis to the various Red Cross concentration camps along the flooded Mississippi river, almost as soon as they arraived on every train from the north.

Another levee break was reported overnight. The dyke near Osceola broke, flooding the Arkansas towns of Kilso, Enmore, Dermot, Wilson and Tyler.

Flood waters north of Memphis were slowly receding and in northwest Tennessee, southeast Missouri and in Kentucky the farmers were planning to return to their homes.

More than 2,500 of the flood refugees are encamped on the fair grounds here.

Gray's Story

Snyder Fought Back.

Snyder fought back when he went in to kill him, Gray also disclosed.

"After I hit him the first blow with the window weight he started to fight," he disclosed, "and she got excited. He got me by the necktie and I think she started to belabor him with the sash weight."

Gray sat with bowed head, which drooped lower and lower, as the confession was read to the jury.

Mrs. Snyder, pale, and in black as usual, sat with compressed lips frequently shaking her blonde head negatively.

District Attorney Newcombe read the confession without any attempt at elocutory effect.

Admits Intimate Relations.

"I make this statement voluntarily of my own free will, without fear or coercion, knowing that anything I may say may be used against me," Gray had said.

"I was introduced to this Mrs. Snyder about two years ago in town by Harry Folsom. I believe that he had picked she and another girl up at the restaurant. I came in from a trip and he introduced me to her. I didn't see her—I don't think—for two or three months after that. I would say probably it was two months when she wrote me and asked me to get her a corset. I am in the corset business, a salesman. I did that.

"She is a woman of great charm—I probably don't have to tell you that—and I did like her very much and she was good company and apparently a good pal to spend an evening with.

"I think that the intimate relations started in August if I am not mistaken. I thing in September we started to correspond. I was in the habit of getting two or three letters a day—one practically every day when I was away from home.

Told Her He Was Married.

"She became confidential in the fact that she and her husband were not getting along.

"I think it was in November or December that she spoke about increasing the insurance on her husband's life. She told me that it was to be $50,000, as I recall.

"I saw quite a little of her from then on. She would come in town shopping and call me up. She called me considerably and wrote to me very often. I will say, to use the slang, she did me pretty hard for a while. I was out to her house for luncheon and met her mother. I don't think her mother knew of the relations which existed. At the time I met her I told her I was married. I was very happy at home and had a very fine wife.

Gave Husband Poison, He Says.

"As this thing kept growing she made several attempts upon his life. She told me, and I told her I thought she was terrible. I think in two instances she gave him sleeping powders or so-called sleeping powders and turned on the gas. I think she gave him bichloride of mercury at the time he was sick with hiccoughs. She wrote me, she gave him four at one time and six at another. All her plans seemed to fail. She started then to hound me on this plan. I said, absolutely no. Then I didn't see her so often as I did. Later she told me that she and her husband had a big fight one night and she said 'isn't it strange that some man said that if he didn't treat me better he would kill him?'

"As I recall it, there were at least five or six attempts that were made on his life, none of which were successful. Then she started to hound me upon this plan to assist her.

Pays Tribute to Wife.

"I have always been a gentleman and I have always been absolutely on the level with everybody. I have a good many friends. If I ever have after this I don't know. I absolutely refused at first. With some veiled threats and intents of love making, she reached the point where she got me in such a whirl that I didn't know where I was.

"During the past two weeks since this plan was concocted I have been in a literal hell. That is the truth because I have a very fine little wife and a wonderful daughter.

"I went over to her home about two weeks ago tonight on a call from her that day at the office and I think I walked Queens village for two hours and a half and absolutely gave up any idea of it. I started to hear from her again when I got out on the road and called her up and she said this night of last Saturday when they were going to a party that she would leave the doors open that I might get in. So I went in the house and I was coming downstairs to beat it when they drove up the front. I had to duck upstairs as I was three quarters down. I went back to her mother's bedroom and sat there and she came in and came upstairs. She asked me if I was there. The implements were underneath her mother's pillow. She had written me about all the plans and details of what it was to be.

"I purchased a window weight and the chloroform for her. I bought the handkerchief also. This may sound as though I was more than vitally interested in any outcome. I wasn't because I never really in my own mind thought that I would go through with it.

Struck First Blow.

"She came in that night and said: 'You are going to do it, aren't you?' I said 'I think I can.' I sat there for probabaly an hour. They got in about 2 o'clock and I told her to go back into bed, figuring that I could steal away. But she didn't go, she sat right there at the doorway and I started after her. She went first.

"I fololwed her to the bedroom and it was I that hit him the first blow with this window weight. He started to fight and she got very much excited. I scarcely knew what did happen for a short time. He got me by the necktie and I think, I am positive, that she started to belabor him with the sash weight after that. She had the bottle of chloroform and the handkerchief which she poured on the bed.

"I don't know whether she gagged him or not. She passed me a necktie to tie his feet and she covered up his head. He was still alive the last that I heard. She said, 'Is he dead?' I said, 'no.' She said this thing has absolutely got to go through. I said, 'well, I am through' I had got the picture wire. There were two pieces. I am pretty sure if you gentlemen said that there was wire around his neck, that it must have been tied by her. Don't know whether it was around his neck or not. I went right back to the bathroom. I had blood on my shirt and hands and came back to the bedroom when I noticed the blood on my shirt and on my vest. I had my coat off because it was so hot in there. Things were just a big haze during that period.

Changed Shirts.

"I didn't know where I was. I couldn't seem to collect my brain for a minute. She brought me in a shirt of his and it was a new shirt. It was blue. I took off my own shirt and I didn't know that she burned it until after she told me that she also burned a robe of hers which was all covered with blood. I think she also burned a night gown. I was there at that time, was putting on my shirt.

"She called me down to the cellar and told me what she had done and she had hidden the weight. I had it wrapped in paper because I didn't think it would hurt so much. She evidently stripped that because it was bare. I came upstairs and started to throw things about as you know to make it appear as though it were a robbery. I know I sat there and had three or four drinks. She gave me this bottle that went to Syracuse. She had given me I guess a small bottle, together with a larger bottle, which I think was probably the cause of my own doings as far as I was concerned, because even when I was sitting there I firmly in my own mind absolutely said it would not go through. But it did, unfortunately. I went down stairs and this story was then thought of. She said that some Italian had come into the house or some Italian had been seen around there.

"I happened to pick up this piece of Italian paper in a train coming over that night and I put it in my pocket, which accounts for that part of it.

"I sat there and said, 'I don't think you better make it one, you better make it two.' That is as far as my plans went."

JUDGMENT OF $70 IN DAMAGE CASE

Judgment of $70 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by a jury of six persons in municipal court yesterday afternoon in th ecase of Donald Glass of Wellsville against William Rodgers, Pennsylvania avenue insurance dealer, for damages alleged to have been done to the plaintiff's automobile in a collision in Pennsylvania avenue, last November.

Glass sued to recover $321.95, which he claimed to represent the damage done to his machine when struck by the Rodgers car.

TRAIN VICTIM'S BODY BURIED

Visitors from Youngstown, Canton, Alliance, East Liverpool, Warren and other adjoining communities, who viewed the body over the week end, were unable to identify it.

Funeral services for Charles Alexander Carson, 1055 Monaca street, East End, will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Second Presbyterian church, in charge of Frederic A. Dean. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Midgets Plan Benefit

B. R. Johnson, campaign chairman. "The Red Cross is seeking to raise but $5,000,000 but this will not be sufficient to provide the relief which will be needed before the crisis has passed."

The Helen Gould Literary club has made a contribution of $10, while a $5 subscription has been announced by the Aid Society of the Curry Memorial church.

Chairman's Appeal.

The following appeal was made to the "people of East Liverpool" by the campaign chairman:

"The greatest flood in history ravages in the Mississippi valley. A hundred thousand helpless souls call for help. The rains continue to fall, and slowly, but surely, the waters of the flood spread until finally the entire basin of the bottom lands in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, parts of Illinois and Kentucky will be inundated with at least five feet more water than has ever been recorded

"The dead now totals at least 200 while thousands of others face peril, hunger, cold and sickness. At the rate of 50 miles a day the flood waters move southward. The reason the waters move so slowly is due to the fact that the lands in the lower Mississippi basin are low and almost level, but as surely as the tides, the waters will cover the entire country within the area indicated by the dispatches.

"East Liverpool, with 6,000 other centers in this country, has been requested to raise funds to meet the crises of this hour. The need for money is imminent. Today the call goes forth. Our quota is small, only $1225. But no doubt, it will be doubled before the need is finally met in the flood districts.

"If civilization is more than a name, if the story of the good Samaritan, told a thousand years ago, and repeated again and again to every child born into the world, is to mean more than a tale that is told, let the folks demonstrate in this hour of need that the human race will respond with gifts of mercy to those who call to us in despair.

"Think of a city more than four times the size of East Liverpool, and every soul in want, hungry and dependent! Think of an inland sea one fourth the size of Ohio and a hundred thousand men and women and children surrounded by that sea, helpless to help themselves unless some one brings them food, medicine and the necessary comforts of life! Birth and death go on there, life's tragedies are only intensified. The common events of the ordinary now become tragedies of the first degree.

"We must help! As you lay down this paper get out your check book and write. Today about 40 men are out in the city calling upon citizens of this community to assist in meeting East Liverpool's quota. It will be impossible for this small number to see every one who should give.

"Therefore we request that you go to your own bank and deposit your money there. Every bank in the city is a depository for the relief funds for this cause. If no one calls on you, remember your duty is none the less removed. Every wage earner can give something. Let East Liverpool, all of East Liverpool respond!"

Divert Mississippi's Water.

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—Historic New Orleans today emerged from the shadow of disaster. The lapping of the Mississippi's most disastrous flood in history against the New Orleans levees will be relieved by the blasting of the levee at Poydras Crevasse, 10 miles below the city, on Friday. Authority for this drastic relief measure was given by Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of the United States army engineer corps, following the urgent appeal of New Orleans and Louisiana officials and the unanimous membership of the Mississippi river commission, the joint control body in charge of lower river levees.

Louisiana presented its urgent petition to Washington. Seecretary of War Davis left the decision to General Jadwin, who, as a member of Secretary of Commerce Hoover's relief party, has maintained direct personal contact with the flood situation since it attained disastrous proportions last week.

Army engineers are confident the levee blasting will divert sufficient water from the main channel to the rampant Mississippi to remove all danger of flooding the crescent city.

Hoover on Job.

The spillway will open a new channel into Lake Borgne, through which the still rising waters above the city will be diffused over a wide area, draining into the Gulf of Mexico. The artificial crevasse will flood 10,000 acres of sparsely populated semi-swamp from which approximately three thousand persons must be evacuated before the blasting.

Secretary Hoover will remain in New Orleans today and tomorrow.

While today's developments reduce the probability of further serious flood disaster, Secretary Hoover emphasized that the pressure of Red Cross relief activity among the more than 150,000 homeless victims continued unabated.

Rev. Peter W. Macauley, pastor of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, who recently accepted a call to Cleveland, will be the speaker at the meeting of the club in Larkins' annex, Market street, tomorrow noon. CITY AGREES TO PAY $5,000 ON STREET JOB

County Bears $3,000 of Balance on West End Work.

EXCESS CHARGES

Traction Company Asks Council to Build Retaining Wall.

Terms of the settlement between the city of East Liverpool and the county commissioners regarding the payment of an $8,000 balance for the improvement of West Eighth street were announced today.

The commissioners agreed to stand for $3,000 of the added expense involved in the widening, grading and surfacing, while the city will pay approximately $5,000.

The settlement was arranged at a conference between the commissioners, members of city council and a representative of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company in the municipal headquarters.

Councilmen Hughes, Goodballet, Poole, Hayes and Kommel approved the settlement, while Solons Farrall and Kelly voted against it. The latter two contended that inasmuch as the plans for the proposed improvement had been altered after the city council had approved them that the city could not be held responsible for the additional cost.

Estimates for the cost of the original improvement were $75,000, of which the county was to contribute $20,000, the street car company $15,000 and the city $40,000. However, the bill of the contractors amounted to more than $83,000, and the city was charged with the unpaid balance.

The street car company's share is to be paid in five annual installments. The traction company has asked the city to construct a retaining wall for their tracks along the scene of the improvement, and, according to Councilman Farrall, the payments have been held up until council complies with the request. The company asserts that the fill on the southside of the railway was not made in compliance with the terms of the contract and that their tracks will be endangered unless a retaining wall is constructed.

HEWITT, CONDEMNED SLAYER, MAY SEEK NEW TRIAL

BOY, 16, FACES DEATH CHAIR FOR KILLING

Conneaut Lad Silent, But His Mother Collapses.

SPEEDY VERDICT

Fred Brown, Husband and Father of Victims, Satisfied.

JEFFERSON, O., April 27.—Possibility of filing a motion for a new trial in the Floyd Hewitt murder case, was under discussion today by Defense Attorneys D. F. Dunlavy and F. R. Hogue, following conviction of the 16 year old Conneaut boy Tuesday afternoon on a first degree murder indictment.

The defense has three days in which to file such a motion.

Hewitt was mum today on the verdict which carried with it the extreme penalty. His mother, Mrs. Olive Hewitt, is in a state of collapse and under the care of a physician

Fred Brown, husband and father of the young woman and five year old boy who were slain in the Brown home at Conneaut last February 14, expressed satisfaction with the verdict.

"I believe justice has been done," he said.

Youngest to Face Electrocution.

The jury which convicted the youth deliberated but 65 minutes. The jurors took three ballots, one on the question of guilt, one on the degree of guilt; and one on recommendation of mercy. They reached unanimous agreement on each ballot.

Unless higher courts or the governor intervene, Hewitt will die in the electric chair at Columbus penitentiary August 10. Presiding Judge Charles R. Sargent pronounced sentence immediately after the jury reported.

Hewitt wil be the first person in the history of Ashtabula county to pay the death penalty, if the sentence is carried out, and perhaps the youngest person ever to be electrocuted in the state of Ohio.

Ex-Senator Beveredge

Born in Ohio.

Beveridge served eight years in the senate.

In 1912 he was chairman of the progressive national convention in Chicago, and went down to defeat with Roosevelt. He did not essay a return to public life until 1922, when he was nominated in the primaries, but failed of election.

Beveridge was born in Highland county, Ohio, on October 6, 1862, when his father and brothers were off to war. The elder Beveridge came home, at the ending of the war, in a bad financial way and moved the family to Indiana, where young Beveridge led a life of privation.

Early Life of Hardship.

He became a ploughboy at twelve, railway laborer at fourtten and teamster and logger at fifteen. He had a gift for combining words into high-sounding sentences and used to go out into the woods by himself and declaim to the trees—a sort of Demosthenes, who substituted the forest for the seashore.

He conceived the ambition of going to West Point, but was penalized several points during the examinations when he laughed at a joke and lost the examination by 1-5 of 1 per cent

A neighbor loaned him $50. and he matriculated at De Pauw university, working his way through as steward in an eating club and by peddling books during vacations. He won most of the college awards, including the $100 prize for oratory. He rapidly developed into an orator and soon was able to outdistance the crack university speakers in the Middle West.

He carried away from the university a bachelor's and master's degree.

After a breakdown and convalescence on a western ranch he returned to Indianapolis and passed the bar examinations.

As a full-fledged lawyer he fought the local political machine, was appointed counsel in big litigations and won his first real political experience in the campaign of James G. Blaine in 1884, when, at twenty-two, he gained the sobriquet of "the Boy Orator."

He had been an indefatigable writer and in 1912 wrote a book called "Invisible Government." It attracted national attention. He crowned his library work in 1919 with the "Life of John Marshall," first Chief Justice of the United States. He was noted as a lecturer on John Marshall and on the Bible.

President Sends Condolence.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The sudden death of ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, came as a shock today to officialdom in the capital, where he had many friends.

President Coolidge sent the following message of condolence to Mrs. Beveridge:

"It is with a feeling of personal loss that I have learned of the passing of your distinguished husband. In scholarship, in literature and in politics he was a great American figure. I express to you and your family the sympathy of Mrs. Coolidge and myself."

Bucyrus Farmer Kills Himself.

Coolidge Ignores "Smoke Out" Plan on Third Term Issue

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The first really serious effort to "smoke out" President Coolidge on the third term issue has come to naught.

Mr. Coolidge, it was announced at the White House today, will ignore the open letter addressed to him yesterday by the Forum magazine, in which he was challenged to present his views to the country on the proposition that no president should attempt to continue in office beyond the traditional eight years established by George Washington.

The challenging letter was written by John Carter of New York, and was designed to give Mr. Coolidge an opportunity to present his views to the country in the same manner that Gov. Al Smith recently defined his views on religion in replying to an open letter in the Atlantic Monthly.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 27.—A tendency to higher prices in the motor and public utility stocks was the principal feature of the early trading in the stock market today. The railroad stocks were firm, with Bangor and Aroostock continuing sensational advance to 81¾, compared with yesterday's low price of 68. Steel and oil stocks were firm but inactive.

Early selling of United States Steel common was based on the shrinkage of first quarterly earnings as compared with the final quarter of 1926, but buying demand was strong, and the stock rallied to Tuesday's closing price level. General Motors at 193 had regained practically all of the ground lost in Monday's violent slump., while Chrysler Motor, Hudson Mack Trucks and Packard sold up in good form.

The bullish forces pressed their advance against the bears in a number of market favorites, including a good volume of short coverings of stocks sold on Monday. Despite the 26,000 barrel daily increase in crude oil output last week, the oil stocks were firm, with Pan American up a point, and numerous Standard and indpendent oil shares up a fraction to full point or more. Houston snapped back to 113½ for a 4-point gain.

RESCUE 3,000 REFUGEES AT ARKANSAS CITY

Marooned People Taken to Pine Bluff and Helena.

FOOD ARRIVES

Little Change in Mississippi Flood Conditions.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 27.—Rescue operations centered today at Arkansas City, where 3,000 refugees have been marooned for 48 hours. They were being taken by barges to Pine Bluff and Helena, Ark.

Otherwise, flood conditions in the Mississippi delta were unchanged today. Greenville and surrounding towns were still under water but most of the refugees have been taken to Vicksburg for safety.

A steady stream of supplies of all sorts—food, clothing, tents, first aid kits—were sent from Memphis to the various Red Cross concentration camps along the flooded Mississippi river, almost as soon as they arrived on every train from the north.

Another levee break was reported overnight. The dyke near Osceola broke, flooding the Arkansas towns of Kilso, Elmore, Dermot, Wilson and Tyler.

Flood waters north of Memphis were slowly receding and in northwest Tennessee, southeast Missouri and in Kentucky the farmers were planning to return to their homes.

More than 2,500 of the flood refugees are encamped on the fair grounds here.

Gray's Story

Snyder Fought Back.

Snyder fought back when he went in to kill him, Gray also disclosed.

"After I hit him the first blow with the window weight he started to fight," he disclosed, "and she got excited. He got me by the necktie and I think she started to belabor him with the sash weight."

Gray sat with bowed head, which drooped lower and lower, as the confession was read to the jury.

Mrs. Snyder, pale, and in black as usual, sat with compressed lips frequently shaking her blonde head negatively.

District Attorney Newcombe read the confession without any attempt at elocutory effect.

Admits Intimate Relations.

"I make this statement voluntarily of my own free will, without fear or coercion, knowing that anything I may say may be used against me," Gray had said.

"I was introduced to this Mrs. Snyder about two years ago in town by Harry Folsom. I believe that he had picked she and another girl up at the restaurant. I came in from a trip and he introduced me to her. I didn't see her—I don't think—for two or three months after that. I would say probably it was two months when she wrote me and asked me to get her a corset. I am in the corset business, a salesman. I did that.

"She is a woman of great charm—I probably don't have to tell you that—and I did like her very much and she was good company and apparently a good pal to spend an evening with.

"I think that the intimate relations started in August if I am not mistaken. I thing in September we started to correspond. I was in the habit of getting two or three letters a day—one practically every day when I was away from home.

Told Her He Was Married.

"She became confidential in the fact that she and her husband were not getting along.

"I think it was in November or December that she spoke about increasing the insurance on her husband's life. She told me that it was to be $50,000, as I recall.

"I saw quite a little of her from then on. She would come in town shopping and call me up. She called me considerably and wrote to me very often. I will say, to use the slang, she did me pretty hard for a while. I was out to her house for luncheon and met her mother. I don't think her mother knew of the relations which existed. At the time I met her I told her I was married. I was very happy at home and had a very fine wife.

Gave Husband Poison, He Says.

"As this thing kept growing she made several attempts upon his life. She told me, and I told her I thought she was terrible. I think in two instances she gave him sleeping powders or so-called sleeping powders and turned on the gas. I think she gave him bichloride of mercury at the time he was sick with hiecoughs. She wrote me, she gave him four at one time and six at another. All her plans seemed to fail. She started then to hound me on this plan. I said, absolutely no. Then I didn't see her so often as I did. Later she told me that she and her husband had a big fight one night and she said 'isn't it strange that some man said that if he didn't treat me better he would kill him?'

"As I recall it, there were at least five or six attempts that were made on his life, none of which were successful. Then she started to hound me upon this plan to assist her.

Pays Tribute to Wife.

"I have always been a gentleman and I have always been absolutely on the level with everybody. I have a good many friends. If I ever have after this I don't know. I absolutely refused at first. With some veiled threats and intents of love making, she reached the point where she got me in such a whirl that I didn't know where I was.

"During the past two weeks since this plan was concocted I have been in a literal hell. That is the truth because I have a very fine little wife and a wonderful daughter.

"I went over to her home about two weeks ago tonight on a call from her that day at the office and I think I walked Queens village for two hours and a half and absolutely gave up any idea of it. I started to hear from her again when I got out on the road and called her up and she said this night of last Saturday when they were going to a party that she would leave the doors open that I might get in. So I went in the house and I was coming downstairs to beat it when they drove up the front. I had to duck upstairs as I was three quarters down. I went back to her mother's bedroom and sat there and she came in and came upstairs. She asked me if I was there. The implements were underneath her mother's pillow. She had written me about all the plans and details of what it was to be.

"I purchased a window weight and the chloroform for her. I bought the handkerchief also. This may sound as though I was more than vitally interested in any outcome. I wasn't because I never really in my own mind thought that I would go through with it.

Struck First Blow.

"She came in that night and said: 'You are going to do it, aren't you?' I said 'I think I can.' I sat there for probabaly an hour. They got in about 2 o'clock and I told her to go back into bed, figuring that I could steal away. But she didn't go, she sat right there at the doorway and I started after her. She went first.

"I fololwed her to the bedroom and it was I that hit him the first blow with this window weight. He started to fight and she got very much excited. I scarcely knew what did happen for a short time. He got me by the necktie and I think, I am positive, that she started to belabor him with the sash weight after that. She had the bottle of chloroform and the handkerchief which she poured on the bed.

"I don't know whether she gagged him or not. She passed me a necktie to tie his feet and she covered up his head. He was still alive the last that I heard. She said, 'Is he dead?' I said, 'no.' She said this thing has absolutely got to go through. I said 'well, I am through' I had got the picture wire. There were two pieces. I am pretty sure if you gentlemen said that there was wire around his neck, that it must have been tied by her. Don't know whether it was around his neck or not. I went right back to the bathroom. I had blood on my shirt and hands and came back to the bedroom when I noticed the blood on my shirt and on my vest. I had my coat off because it was so hot in there. Things were just a big haze during that period.

Changed Shirts.

"I didn't know where I was. I couldn't seem to collect my brain for a minute. She brought me in a shirt of his and it was a new shirt. It was blue. I took off my own shirt and I didn't know that she burned it until after she told me that she also burned a robe of hers which was all covered with blood. I think she also burned a night gown. I was there at that time, was putting on my shirt.

"She called me down to the cellar and told me what she had done and she had hidden the weight. I had it wrapped in paper because I didn't think it would hurt so much. She evidently stripped that because it was bare. I came upstairs and started to throw things about as you know to make it appear as though it were a robbery. I know I sat there and had three or four drinks. She gave me this bottle that went to Syracuse. She had given me I guess a small bottle, together with a larger bottle, which I think was probably the cause of my own doings as far as I was concerned, because even when I was sitting there I firmly in my own mind absolutely said it would not go through. But it did, unfortunately. I went down stairs and this story was then thought of. She said that some Italian had come into the house or some Italian had been seen around there.

"I happened to pick up this piece of Italian paper in a train coming over that night and I put it in my pocket, which accounts for that part of it.

"I sat there and said, 'I don't think you better make it one, you better make it two.' That is as far as my plans went."

JUDGMENT OF $70 IN DAMAGE CASE

Judgment of $70 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by a jury of six persons in municipal court yesterday afternoon in th ecase of Donald Glass of Wellsville against William Rodgers, Pennsylvania avenue insurance dealer, for damages alleged to have been done to the plaintiff's automobile in a collision in Pennsylvania avenue, last November.

Glass sued to recover $321.95, which he claimed to represent the damage done to his machine when struck by the Rodgers car.

Midgets Plan Benefit

B. R. Johnson, campaign chairman. "The Red Cross is seeking to raise but $5,000,000 but this will not be sufficient to provide the relief which will be needed before the crisis has passed."

The Helen Gould Literary club has made a contribution of $10, while a $5 subscription has been announced by the Aid Society of the Curry Memoriai church.

Chairman's Appeal.

The following appeal was made to the "people of East Liverpool" by the campaign chairman:

"The greatest flood in history ravages in the Mississippi valley. A hundred thousand helpless souls call for help. The rains continue to fall, and slowly, but surely, the waters of the flood spread until finally the entire basin of the bottom lands in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, parts of Illinois and Kentucky will be inundated with at least five feet more water than has ever been recorded

"The dead now totals at least 206 while thousands of others face peril, hunger, cold and sickness. At the rate of 50 miles a day the flood waters move southward. The reason the waters move so slowly is due to the fact that the lands in the lower Mississippi basin are low and almost level, but as surely as the tides, the waters will cover the entire country within the area indicated by the dispatches.

"East Liverpool, with 6,000 other centers in this country, has been requested to raise funds to meet the crises of this hour. The need for money is imminent. Today the call goes forth. Our quota is small, only $1225. But no doubt, it will be doubled before the need is finally met in the flood districts.

"If civilization is more than a name, if the story of the good Samaritan, told a thousand years ago, and repeated again and again to every child born into the world, is to mean more than a tale that is told, let the folks demonstrate in this hour of need that the human race will respond with gifts of mercy to those who call to us in despair.

"Think of a city more than four times the size of East Liverpool, and every soul in want, hungry and dependent! Think of an inland sea one fourth the size of Ohio and a hundred thousand men and women and children surrounded by that sea, helpless to help themselves unless some one brings them food, medicine and the necessary comforts of life! Birth and death go on there, life's tragedies are only intensified. The common events of the ordinary now become tragedies of the first degree.

"We must help! As you lay down this paper get out your check book and write. Today about 40 men are out in the city calling upon citizens of this community to assist in meeting East Liverpool's quota. It will be impossible for this small number to see every one who should give.

"Therefore we request that you go to your own bank and deposit your money there. Every bank in the city is a depository for the relief funds for this cause. If no one calls on you, remember your duty is none the less removed. Every wage earner can give something. Let East Liverpool, all of East Liverpool respond!"

Divert Mississippi's Water.

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—Historic New Orleans today emerged from the shadow of disaster. The lapping of the Mississippi's most disastrous flood in history against the New Orleans levees will be relieved by the blasting of the levee at Poydras Crevasse, 10 miles below the city, on Friday. Authority for this drastic relief measure was given by Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of the United States army engineer corps, following the urgent appeal of New Orleans and Louisiana officials and the unanimous membership of the Mississippi river commission, the joint control body in charge of lower river levees.

Louisiana presented its urgent petition to Washington. Secretary of War Davis left the decision to General Jadwin, who, as a member of Secretary of Commerce Hoover's relief party, has maintained direct personal contact with the flood situation since it attained disastrous proportions last week.

Army engineers are confident the levee blasting will divert sufficient water from the main channel to the rampant Mississippi to remove all danger of flooding the crescent city.

Hoover on Job.

The spillway will open a new channel into Lake Borgne, through which the still rising waters above the city will be diffused over a wide area, draining into the Gulf of Mexico. The artificial crevasse will flood 10,000 acres of sparsely populated semi-swamp from which approximately three thousand persons must be evacuated before the blasting.

Secretary Hoover will remain in New Orleans today and tomorrow.

While today's developments reduce the probability of further serious flood disaster, Secretary Hoover emphasized that the pressure of Red Cross relief activity among the more than 150,000 homeless victims continued unabated.

Traction Company Asks Council to Build Retaining Wall.

Terms of the settlement between the city of East Liverpool and the county commissioners regarding the payment of an $8,000 balance for the improvement of West Eighth street were announced today.

The commissioners agreed to stand for $3,000 of the added expense involved in the widening, grading and surfacing, while the city will pay approximately $5,000.

The settlement was arranged at a conference between the commissioners, members of city council and a representative of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company in the municipal headquarters.

Councilmen Hughes, Goodballet, Poole, Hayes and Kommel approved the settlement, while Solons Farrall and Kelly voted against it. The latter two contended that inasmuch as the plans for the proposed improvement had been altered after the city council had approved them that the city could not be held responsible for the additional cost.

Estimates for the cost of the original improvement were $75,000, of which the county was to contribute $20,000, the street car company $15,000 and the city $40,000. However, the bill of the contractors amounted to more than $83,000, and the city was charged with the unpaid balance.

The street car company's share is to be paid in five annual installments. The traction company has asked the city to construct a retaining wall for their tracks along the scene of the improvement, and, according to Councilman Farrall, the payments have been held up until council complies with the request. The company asserts that the fill on the southside of the railway was not made in compliance with the terms of the contract and that their tracks will be endangered unless a retaining wall is constructed.

LEGISLATURE IS SPEEDING WORK

Resolution Offering Aid to Flood Sufferers is Adopted.

While the budget bill and power bill absorbed the spotlight in the legislature yesterday a number of other measures gained some attention, particularly in the house, which after disposing of its budget bill in the morning turned to its special calendar.

A resolution offering from West Virginia to flood sufferers of the Mississippi valley such assistance as the governor may deem proper, was adopted by the house and sent to the senate for its concurrence.

Two bills were passed by the house during the afternoon, one providing for the agriculture department's work to control the corn borer, this bill being repassed as amended by the senate and the other making some changes in the game and fish law, one of which set the license fee at $1.50, this license covering both fishing and hunting. The house refused again to amend the text book bill to include McGuffey's reader as asked by Delegate Street, and put the bill once more on its final reading. The senate bill covering salaries of the board of control was amended to make the annual salary $6,000 and it and a dozen other measures were advanced to their reading.

The senate in its night session also took up some bills on its special calendar, passing three local measures affecting respectively the city of Spencer, the city of Weston and the city of Beckley.

Both senate and house passed the bill amending the prohibition law to eliminate the $10 arrest fee formerly allowed in liquor cases. Appropriations in the budget bill for the prohibition department it was explained have taken care of expenses of the department so that the fee will no longer be needed.

A barbecue will be one of the features.

A district meeting of the Forty and Eight society, the "fun" organization of the Legion, will likely be held in the evening.

A band contest, in which cash prizes will be awarded, is also proposed. "SLIDE, KELLY, SLIDE," IS HIT

William Haine s and Sally O'Neill at American.

You can't blame a girl for falling in love with a baseball player—if he happens to be William Haines! Half of America's flapperdom was in love with him before — but when he romped onto the athletic field in that New York uniform — when he knocked the homer and won the game—aaaaah!

That's why "Slide, Kelly, Slide," now playing at the American theatre, will make every flapper's heart bound with joy. It is the ideal picture for the great American flapper. A love story — one of the prettiest ever told on the screen—it's told in a new way.

The flapper goes to the ball game. She sees the world series; she sees the mighty giants of American baseball struggle in the classic of the year — while teeming grandstands roar in excitement.

She sees famous ball players playing their roles in real life — with William Haines as one of them, and charming little Sally O'Neal as the heroine — daughter of a ball player and loved by the youngest star of the game.

The story is a spectacle — crammed with thrills, excitement — and with plenty of comedy, all woven around the love story of the boy and girl. It's great—and it's beautiful.

Haines as the country boy who makes the big team, and Sally as the daughter of the veteran catcher of the Yankees, head a noble cast. Harry Carey has a wonderful role as the catcher, Sally's father — and there is a comical love affair as counter-relief between Karl Dane and Eileen Sedgwick.

EAST LIVERPOOL WOMAN SUFFERED FROM CHILDHOOD WITH CATARRH

Says World's Tonic Removed Scabs in Nose, Watering of Eyes, Ringing Noises in Head, Offensive Breath and Mucus Dripping Into the Throat

World's Tonic Treatment for Catarrh is Systematic and Gives Quick and Lasting Results

The unusual merit of World's Tonic, the systemic treatment for catarrh, is seen in the number of stubborn cases of long standing which it has relieved.

"Ever since I was a girl I suffered from catarrh of the head. It was very disagreeable. Dry scabs formed in my nose every night. My eyes watered so bad it was an effort to read. I often had heavy, dull headaches; mucus dripped from my head into my throat almost constantly. I had to keep clearing my throat most of the time. There were ringing noises in my ears; each morning my tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth. In addition, my breath was foul and I was ashamed to get near anyone for fear they would get a whiff of my breath.

"World's Tonic is the only thing that ever helped me. It has entirely relieved my catarrh. I gave World's Tonic a fair trial and I have used five bottles in all and my former trouble has completely disappeared. I am recommending World's Tonic to all my friends," said a young Florence street matron.

A special treatment for catarrh has long been needed. This can now be had in World's Tonic. It is a systemic treatment and combats the disease in two ways—first, by relieving the distress in the nasal passages and throat, which it does almost at once; second by combating the disease at the very seat of the trouble, within the system. Nothing like World's Tonic has even been offered the public before. It has brought astonishing results in many cases.

If you suffer from Catarrh, talk with the World's Tonic druggist. He will explain the treatment to you. Sold at Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and all other reliable druggists.

A country wedding was now in full swing. The minister asked the congregation if there was anyone there who objected to the wedding. Silence was pronounced, but all of a sudden the unlucky admirer of the girl stood up.

"I object."

"And what is your objection based on?" asked the minister.

"Because I want the girl myself," answered the boy.

At the township contest in the Calcutta school, the following were winners:

Seventh and eight grades—First, Claresteen Smith, Bloomfield school; second, Vivian Swezie, Bloomfield school; third, Beth Trotter, No. 9 school.

Fifth and sixth grades — First, Wayne Foreman, Bloomfield school; second, Della Ingles, Hazel Run school; third, Irene Smith, Bloomfield school.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain, Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking!

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

Vibrationless Performance and 10,000 Mile Guarantee Proving Worth of New Star

Three Years Ahea d of Competitors, Latest Developments in Automotive World Show; C. E. Kidder and Son Devoted Entirely to Star Service.

Absolute lack of vibration—a 10,000 mile guarantee, with no time limit qualification—modern oil pressure and water cooling systems—low up-keep, greater riding comfort, longer life—these and many other countless features which the motorist constantly looks for in the car he wants to own, are making the Star automobile, handled in East Liverpool by C. E. Kidder & Son in the East End, one of the season's best sellers.

Star cars today are three years in advance of their competitors in improvements. Modern automobiles of the high class price class today are adopting features that were installed in Star cars back in 1922 and 1923.

One of the most important of these features is the straight ine drive. The first Star car built embodied the straight line drive The Star was also among the first of the smaller type cars to use the positive pressure system of oiling and pressure system of cooling.

It is impossible to make a Star boil if the required amount of water is kept in the radiator. It is also impossible to murn out a bearing if oil requirements are met.

It is common knowledge that the Star competitors have been and still are frantically trying to procure an automobie to compete with the Star in point of ow upkeep, riding comfort and long life. Follow the development of the Star, know its features and compare.

If familiar at all with the mechanics of automotive power you will likely find cars in the $1,500 to $2,600 class copying features of the little '23 Star.

Look in the motor ads, read their different features, then go lift up the hood of any 1923 Star and there you will find them, too.

With the last vestige of vibration absolutey eiminated the the Star now can compare with practicaly any of the higher priced machines and all Star models are listed under $1,000. This must be considered a step still further in the lead.

Lack of vibration chiefly is the result of the fact that the Star motor is cushioned in rubber, producing smooth performance and a smooth flow of power at all speeds.

The workmanship and materials that go into the present bodies are the best that can be obtained. Test them and see. Rip out the upholstering in the modern Star and you'l find just about what you'd ook for in the higher priced ines.

All these things lead Star followers to the belief that there is no comparison with the Star in its own price line. The Star boasts more power, greater economy, longer life, and easier riding and driving facilities.

And they are guaranteed, too.

In addition to the usual 90-day warranty the Star is guaranteed for 10,000 miles. This guarantee, besides, carries no time limit with it.

The Star is inspected and thoroughly cleaned every 500 miles, thereby insuring perfect service at all times.

And one feature of the Star service is that eevry owner knows exactly what his operating expense for 10,000 miles will be. The local Star dealer nldivibhaig BeBhHrliscarinsuinrg furnishes everything for a Star four except gasoline and tires for $69.70. This includes all labor, oil, grease, parts and all necessities, with the two exceptions mentioned.

The local Star dealer will be gad to expain their plan more in detail. C. E. Jidder and Son are already known for their complete co-operation with the Star owner. This organization is devoted entirely to Star service.

Tires Trim High Nine; Clash With Turk-Nash Club Saturday

Chester School Boys Blanked In Practice Tilt At Smith Field

Manager Riley Lining up Forces for Exhibition With Motors; Billiards Drilling Diligently; K. T. K., Laughlin and Wellsville Busy.

The Superior Cord Tires of the City Industrial League pounded out 13 hits off two Chester high school pitchers and copped the exhibition clash with the school boys yesterday afternoon at Smith Field, 11 to 0.

Evans and Zorzie shared mound duties for the Tires, the pair handing out a total of five hits during the game. Five errors also aided in the downfall of the school team.

Simcox and Wilde, the latter a regular infielder with the Tires, pitched for High School.

The two clubs will tange again on Thursday at Smith Field at 5:30 and the performance of the Tires will give Manager Riley some idea as to his lineup for the contest on Saturday afternoon with John Fowler's Turk Nash City League squad. The Saturday engagement will start at 3:30.

High School	0	5	5

Evans, Zorzie and McMath, Vanaman; Simcox, Wilde and Delong.

The Turk Nash squad has been working out diligently at Patterson Field for the past couple of weeks and should be in top form to go against the Chester outfit.

Manager Fowler will not have much of a problem in selecting his starting outfit, judging from performances to date, with last year's club practically intact. Talbot will be gone from first base and Dewey Morgan from third, but Watson will be shifted from shortstop to the hot corner and the first base job is no problem with several first class applicants on the job.

At least three candidates have been working out at shortstop and, in the preliminary workouts, any one of the trio seems to possess the necessary qualifications.

It is doubtful if any of the six league clubs is working any harder than Ed McVeigh's American Billiards who several weeks ago took over the Victory Motor franchise. The Billiards got First Baseman Talbot, Third Baseman Morgan and Pitcher Cracker Howell in the deal that sent Bill Mundy to the Turk Nash combine and while the deal was considered by Owner Mike Turk of the Motors a good one for his club, Pilot McVeigh holds that it was equally advantageous to his outfit.

Elmer Carey, former manager of the old Grand Athletics, will help the Billiards out a little in the matter of coaching, although he will not attempt the job of field manager, those duties resting on the shoulders of Ed McVeigh. The Billiards will be smartly outfitted in new uniforms purchased by Owner Ted Ganas.

Saul McCoy, who piloted the Newell Laughlin club to a runner-up position two years ago and a notch higher to the championship last season, is looking over his material, working the boys out at Columbian park and saying little.

McCoy believes he wil have a pretty good outfit at Knowles, Taylor and Knowles this summer.

Business Manager Joe Dickey, of Laughlin, is inspecting his array of catchers following the release of Ted Hunselman recently. Dickey has been pretty busy on his baseball duties in recent weeks but confidently believes he'll have a real Laughlin club again. Several promising candidates will be on the job for Hunselman's place.

City League clubs of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell will "not know the old place" when they perform against the Wellsville club at Wellsville.

The down river aggregation has been right up on a baseball proposition that should help to boost the pastime there considerably this summer and no small part of the club's program is the erection of a fence at Nicholson park, below Eighteenth street.

JOHANNES DRUGS WIN FROM 'Y. M.'

Bucher's Homer With Bases Full Decides Issue.

The Johannes Drugs soft ball squad of the Review-Tribune Recreation League defeated the Y. M. C. A. nine in an exhibition engagement last evening at Northside. The final count was 13 to 9.

The score was tied, 9 to 9, from the fourth inning until the sixth when Bucher crashed out a home run with the bases loaded.

Stanley contributed a few fielding sensations, snagging a long fly ball, on the run, in the first inning.

Bucher, of the Drugs and Diamond of the Y. M. C. A. were the clouting stars of the contest.

The batteries: Drugs—Smith, Bucher and Riddle; Y. M. C. A.—Gaston and Roush.

The Johannes Drugs are in the market for additional practice games with Recreation League teams and are open for a contest on Thursday night. For booking arrangements, team managers can call Johannes' Drug Store.

At least two of the league squads should be in top form when the Recreation league season gets under way the week of May 9. The Roselawns and the National Furnitures, it is reported, are holding down the playground in Second street pretty regularly these nights an unlimited exhibition series of their own.

The Laughlin Acmes also have been drilling pretty regularly at Newell and should be lined up strongly for the lid lifting encounters.

Although a number of the squads have not yet got down the practice operations, they will probably swing into action in the next week or so, arrangements being under way for a number of exhibition engagements.

NEBRASKA IN LINE FOR ANNUAL A. A. U. GAMES

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 27. — There seems to be slightly more than an excellent chance, if you will pardon my British, that the championship games of the Amateur Athletic Union will go to either Lincoln or Omaha, with the proposed bids of New York and the east in general running a distant last. The writer was tipped today that the Nebraska cities simply cannot miss, unless there is a marked change in official sentiment some time before the actual award is made ten days or two weeks hence.

The board of governors at present is voting on the formality of a re award, made necessary by the decision of New Orleans officials to withdraw patronage for the meeting because of their apprehension that the appearance of colored athletes in competition with white men might create an unwelcome impression in the southern town.

When the re-award is officially finite, the disposition of the meet will be placed in the hands of the championship committee, which will receive and review all bids. To date, four inquiries have been made, two each from the east and west. But the west is due.

The last games were held in connection with the sesqui-centennial exposition in Philadelphia. The 1928 affair is certain to go to either Philadelphia or Boston, as it will be the official trials for the Olympic team and the successful survivors must be massed on the Atlantic coast for an immediate sailing. So it seems to be almost imperative that the west be duly recognized this year, the south having waived its chance.

Both Lincoln and Omaha made early inquiries as soon as it was definitely established that New Orleans had withdrawn. The Nebraska cities wanted to know if the A. A. U. would consider a western site. The A. A. U. wishes to announce that it would, will and still is considering the matter so deeply that tentative offers from the Yankee stadium in New York and the town of East Orange, N. J., have gone no further than the ante-room.

Neither of the probable Nebraska bidders is favored over the other at this time; in fact, it is understood that A. A. U. men in that section have no particular choice, so long as the award goes to their states.

It, therefore, will boil down to the question of which town can make the most attractive offer in the way of housing and competitive facilities since the cost of putting on the program is not likely to exceed $6,000, according to an estimate made to the writer today. Because of the necessary delay in preparations, the date of the meet probably will be postponed to the first week in August.

This will not find particular favor on the West Coast, where they dispose of their track and field season early in the summer; yet stanuch support of the Nebraska sites is expected from California and, perforce, the entire west. As a matter of fact, I am informed that about the only way Lincoln or Omaha can lose the games is to prove that they don't want them.

DICK EVANS HEADLINES ZILL'S CARD

Will Trade Punches With Al Webster Friday.

YOUNGSTOWN, April 27. — Dick Evans, leading middleweight mauler of the section, will take on Al Webster, tough, hard hitting scrapper in the main bout of Al Zill's fight card Friday night at Rayen-Wood auditorium here.

Evans has kayoed California Jack O'Brien and Jimmy Darrah in his last two starts. O'Brien gave the impression of being a pushover for any real battler and Darrah became careless after he had dropped Evans once and reaped the penalty.

In the semi-windup bout, Mike Hector, middleweight champ of the Navy, will swap punches with Jack Herman of Cleveland. Both are of the slugging type.

The third six-rounder will feature Phil Goldstein of Cleveland and Pee Wee Donald of Buffalo, bantams.

Pee Wee is a brother of Hughey Manson, former national flyweight champ. Critics who have seen both of them work rate Donald as the better prospect of the two.

Goldstein will need little introduction to district followers of the padded mittens as he has boxed here on several occasions.

Promoter Zill has not announced the balance of the card. The early ticket sale indicates a capacity house.

JACK TO ATTEND NEW YORK DINNER

NEW YORK, April 27.—Indications that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, will return to the ring here in the near future were seen today in the announcement by Promoter Tex Rickard that Dempsey will be in New York on May 16 to attend the dinner the Madison Square Garden club is giving the promoter.

Gene Tunney also will attend the dinner.

Gus Wilson, the former champion's trainer, was to confer with Rickard today, and Gene Normile, business manager for Dempsey in his fight with Tunney, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow. This sudden epidemic of conferences strengthens reports that a bout involving Dempsey is brewing. Dempsey hardly would make the jaunt across the continent just to get a free meal.

Wilson, who arrived from the west yesterday, declared that Dempsey is rapidly rounding into shape at his training camp in California in the expectation of meeting Tunney again. He said Jack is "working like a horse" and is down to 200 pounds.

Collett Tops Handicaps.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Miss Glenna Collett, twice winner of the national women's golf title, tops the list of handicaps of the Women's Eastern Golf association with a plus two, according to an announcement made public today by the association. Mrs. G. Henry Stetson of the Huntington Valley Country club is second with a plus one and seven women have been placed at scratch. Nearly 1,000 others received handicaps of less than eighteen.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

CREDIT GIVEN TO FINANCIERS FOR BETTER MEXICAN FEELING

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—International financiers are so often accused of making trouble between governments that it's lovely to run into a case where they're given credit for straightening out trouble instead of causing it.

CALLES

Hardly more than a few days ago, as all must recall, relations between Washington and President Calles' administration in Mexico City were strained to the danger point.

Today everything appears perfectly harmonious.

The strain can't exactly be described as having been relieved, because the relief of a strain involves the application of some sort of liniment, which you can see, being poured on and rubbed in, to take the pain out.

No such treatment was observable in this instance.

The pain and the strain simply vanished.

Who performed this miracle? "They say" international financiers performed it.

THE story can't be verified. The international financiers are doing no bragging about it. It isn't in common talk in Washington.

But listen, and draw your own conclusions.

When Plutarco E. Calles became president of Mexico, his country had a lot of bonds outstanding, on which not even interest had been paid for a dickens of a long time.

The bondholders, in the United States and elsewhere, represented by the international financiers aforesaid, were badly worried about 'em.

Calles announced that he was going to begin paying interest on these obligations. He did begin and has continued paying it. Is it necessary to say that the international financiers were strong for Plutarco Calles?

AFTER this had been going on for quite a while Calles got into a serious jam with some foreign oil interests which claimed petroleum properties in Mexico.

The situation rapidly degenerated from bad to a blame sight worse.

Notes flew thick and fast between Washington and Calles. War's a harsh word, but it was mentioned by Senator Borah and others.

IF Mexico got into a war it was easy to see what would happen to the rest of the international financiers' interest money.

An emissary of the international financiers streaked it from New York to Mexico City. Having seen Calles, hot-footedly back he came, bound for Washington.

He brought a complete explanation of the whole difficulty, right in his brief case, with him.

It seemed that Calles had been fed on a lot of forged documents, purporting to come from Washington. They were so worded as to make him think Washington was trying to blackjack him. Was it any wonder that they'd put his back up and caused him to make sassy answers?

FROM that minute to this there's been no further talk of friction between Washington and Calles.

It's true that there's been considerable speculation as to the identity of the author of those forgeries, but it's the purest guesswork, so far as the public's concerned. The subject's one on which Washington's profoundly mysterious.

The international financiers, having accomplished their beneficent work, modestly faded from the Washington landscape.

For the time being, at least, the oil interests also have subsided, possibly to see if they can't think up something as telling as those forged documents.

Gordon - Neeley Revue Comes To Ceramic Theatre, Thursday

Seven Singers and Dancers Appear in Conjunction With Zane Grey Picture, "The Mysterious Rider."

Coming from the Keith-Albee Temple theatre, Detroit, Mich., the Gordon and Neeley revue, featuring singing, dancing and artistic novelties, will appear at the Ceramic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the Zane Grey picture, "The Mysterious Rider," starring Jack Holt.

Gordon and Neeley are musical comedy stars who have made the amusement world laugh for the past ten years, and entertained kings and queens abroad.

The revue, with seven people in the cast, is one of the brightest offerings booked this season. After the local engagement, these artists move directly eastward, and will be seen in the large New York theatres.

Man's battle with the desert, his never-ending fight to wrest a living from the arid wastelands, is the background into which is woven Grey's story, "The Mysterious Rider."

The fast riding Jack Holt plays the title role of Bent Wade, whose life is in danger at the hands of the homesteaders because of his suspected duplicity. The sequences in which he proves his innocence, at the same time gaining them back their meagre lands which they were in danger of losing, form one of the most exciting motion pictures of the year.

Haskin's Letter

prints available for distribution has never been sufficient to supply the demand.

Most popular of the pictures that have been produced is that entitled "Out of the Shadows." It has been shown for five years and is still going strong—a record of which any of the producers out in Hollywood, or anywhere else, would be proud. This film tells the story of the appearance of animal tuberculosis on Henry Benton's farm and its communication to his daughter, Mary, through the milk of an infected cow; of the clean-up of the farm and Benton's acquiring a herd of dairy cattle accredited as free from tuberculosis; of Mary's departure for a sanitarium, and of her return, restored to health, three years later.

Another picture greatly in demand is called "Poor Mrs. Jones." It depicts a farm woman who was unhappy, dissatisfied, and sorry for herself because of the isolated life she led. She goes to visit a sister in the city who lives in a two-room-and-kitchenette flat, and after two weeks of that cramped sort of life she is glad to get back to the farm and decides to live happy ever afterward. The picture is designed to teach a lesson in appreciation of the advantages of country life. Its popularity, it has been suggested, may be explained in part by the interest farmers take in seeing that their wives view it and get the lesson.

Some of the pictures, notably those taken in the national parks and forest reserves, have rare scenic value and interest. Others of the "westerns" rival Hollywood's best with scenes of broncho busting, roping and tying, and other exhibitions of horsemanship and cowboy prowess. And all of them, be it noted, are primarily of marked educational value.

"HATTIE"

that. And when he sprang up and hurried to meet her his eyes rested on his slim strong shoulders and his long hands. He didn't stride like an actor; of anything he was awkward. The face was sensitive, with a nice long nose and a rather wide mouth that broke quickly into a smile. Stirred as she already was, the mere sight of him here in her own living room and the grip of his hand stirred her the more. He was a gentleman. He silenced her. After all the pseudo-gentlemen of the picture lot, with their elaborate overdressing and their extremes of manner, his manner, his pleasantly respectful look and his careless way of wearing his clothes, as if he didn't know what he had on and didn't care, was almost a delightful sort of shock. She could remember seeing gentlemen occasionally back in New York and day-dreaming about them. There were some here in Hollywood, of course, but in this atmosphere of advertising—of push, press clamor, of what the picture people themselves boiled down into the single expressive word "showmanship"—they never seemed to have any real place. You were hardly aware of them.

Arthur slipped, unobserved, from the room. He had learned to do that.

She said—she tried to say it in an easy natural way, something that would sound like the way he wore his clothes—

"Won't you sit down?"

She dropped down on a window-seat herself; on her foot, wondering the next moment if she shouldn't have sat up more properly.

"It's awfully good of you to see me in this informal way, Miss John. Mr. Hamlin told me you weren't busy now."

"Yes, so he explained. I suppose you're tired. It must be a good deal of a strain."

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

CREDIT GIVEN TO FINANCIERS FOR BETTER MEXICAN FEELING

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—International financiers are so often accused of making trouble between governments that it's lovely to run into a case where they're given credit for straightening out trouble instead of causing it.

CALLES

Hardly more than a few days ago, as all must recall, relations between Washington and President Calles' administration in Mexico City were strained to the danger point.

Today everything appears perfectly harmonious.

The strain can't exactly be described as having been relieved, because the relief of a strain involves the application of some sort of liniment, which you can see, being poured on and rubbed in, to take the pain out.

No such treatment was observable in this instance.

The pain and the strain simply vanished.

Who performed this miracle? They say" international financiers performed it.

THE story can't be verified. The international financiers are doing no bragging about it. It ismply is common talk in Washington.

But listen, and draw your own conclusions.

When Plutarco E. Calles became president of Mexico, his country had a lot of bonds outstanding, on which not even interest had been paid for a dickens of a long time.

The bondholders, in the United States and elsewhere, represented by the international financiers aforesaid, were badly worried about 'em.

Calles announced that he was going to begin paying interest on these obligations. He did begin and has continued paying it. Is it necessary to say that the international financiers were strong for Plutarco Calles?

AFTER this had been going on for quite a while Calles got into a serious jam with some foreign oil interests which claimed petroleum properties in Mexico.

The situation rapidly degenerated from bad to a blame sight worse.

Notes flew thick and fast between Washington and Calles. War's a harsh word, but it was mentioned by Senator Borah and others.

IF Mexico got into a war it was easy to see what would happen to the rest of the international financiers' interest money.

An emissary of the international financiers streaked it from New York to Mexico City. Having seen Calles hot-footedly back he came, bound for Washington.

He brought a complete explanation of the whole difficulty, right in his brief case, with him.

It seemed that Calles had been fed on a lot of forged documents, purporting to come from Washington. They were so worded as to make him think Washington was trying to blackjack him. Was it any wonder that they'd put his back up and caused him to make sassy answers!

FROM that minute to this there's been no further talk of friction between Washington and Calles.

It's true that there's been considerable speculation as to the identity of the author of those forgeries, but it's the purest guesswork, so far as the public's concerned. The subject's one on which Washington's profoundly mysterious.

The international financiers, having accomplished their beneficent work, modestly faded from the Washington landscape.

For the time being, at least, the oil interests also have subsided, possibly to see if they can't think up something as telling as those forged documents.

what he had on and didn't care, was almost a delightful sort of shock. She could remember seeing gentlemen occasionally back in New York and day-dreaming about them. There were some here in Hollywood, of course, but in this atmosphere of advertising—of push, press clamor, of what the picture people themselves boiled down into the single expressive word "showmanship"—they never seemed to have any real place. You were hardly aware of them.

Arthur slipped, unobserved, from the room. He had learned to do that.

She said—she tried to say it in an easy natural way, something that would sound like the way he wore his clothes—

"Won't you sit down?"

She dropped down on a window-seat herself; on her foot, wondering the next moment if she shouldn't have sat up more properly.

"It's awfully good of you to see me in this informal way, Miss John. Mr. Hamlin told me you weren't busy now."

"Yes, so he explained. I suppose you're tired. It must be a good deal of a strain."

(To be continued.)

Gordon - Neeley Revue Comes To Ceramic Theatre, Thursday

Seven Singers and Dancers Appear in Conjunction With Zane Grey Picture, "The Mysterious Rider."

Coming from the Keith-Albee Temple theatre, Detroit, Mich., the Gordon and Neeley revue, featuring singing, dancing and artistic novelties, will appear at the Ceramic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the Zane Grey picture, "The Mysterious Rider," starring Jack Holt.

Gordon and Neeley are musical comedy stars who have made the amusement world laugh for the past ten years, and entertained kings and queens abroad.

The revue, with seven people in the cast, is one of the brightest offerings booked this season. After the local engagement, these artists move directly eastward, and will be seen in the large New York theatres.

Man's battle with the desert, his never-ending fight to wrest a living from the arid wastelands, is the background into which is woven Grey's story, "The Mysterious Rider."

The fast riding Jack Holt plays the title role of Bent Wade, whose life is in danger at the hands of the homesteaders because of his suspected duplicity. The sequences in which he proves his innocence, at the same time gaining them back their meagre lands which they were in danger of losing, form one of the most exciting motion pictures of the year.

Haskin's Letter

prints available for distribution has never been sufficient to supply the demand.

Most popular of the pictures that have been produced is that entitled "Out of the Shadows." It has been shown for five years and is still going strong—a record of which any of the producers out in Hollywood, or anywhere else, would be proud. This film tells the story of the appearance of animal tuberculosis on Henry Benton's farm and its communication to his daughter, Mary, through the milk of an infected cow; of the clean-up of the farm and Benton's acquiring a herd of dairy cattle accredited as free from tuberculosis; of Mary's departure for a sanitarium, and of her return, restored to health, three years later.

Another picture greatly in demand is called "Poor Mrs. Jones." It depicts a farm woman who was unhappy, dissatisfied, and sorry for herself because of the isolated life she led. She goes to visit a sister in the city who lives in a two-room-and-kitchenette flat, and after two weeks of that cramped sort of life she is glad to get back to the farm and decides to live happy ever afterward. The picture is designed to teach a lesson in appreciation of the advantages of country life. Its popularity, it has been suggested, may be explained in part by the interest farmers take in seeing that their wives view it and get the lesson.

Some of the pictures, notably those taken in the national parks and forest reserves, have rare scenic value and interest. Others of the "westerns" rival Hollywood's best with scenes of broncho busting, roping and tying, and other exhibitions of horsemanship and cowboy prowess. And all of them, be it noted, are primarily of marked educational value.

that. And when he sprang up and hurried to meet her his eyes rested on his slim strong shoulders and his long hands. He didn't stride like an actor; of anything he was awkward. The face was sensitive, with a nice long nose and a rather wide mouth that broke quickly into a smile. Stirred as she already was, the mere sight of him here in her own living room and the grip of his hand stirred her the more. He was a gentleman. He silenced her. After all the pseudo-gentlemen of the picture lot, with their elaborate overdressing and their extremes of manner, his manner, his pleasantly respectful look and his careless way of wearing his clothes, as if he didn't know

INITIATIVE VOTE ON MAYOR'S PAY SLASH ASKED

Today

There Is No Such Issue.
Mr. Kerensky Is Mistaken.
One Citizen Is Better.
For Railroad Men.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has been asked for an expression on a third term at an early date. He is asked to state his views on that question, as Governor Smith did concerning Catholicism.

THERE is no reason why Governor Smith should have answered more or less impertinent questions about his religion unless he chose to do so. He answered ably. A sufficient answer would have been:

"My religion is none of anybody's business. If you doubt that, read the Constitution of the United States."

AS for Mr. Coolidge "facing the issue of a third term," there is no such issue.

George Washington was elected presidence once, twice and could have allowed himself to be nominated and elected a third term and a fourth term, but he felt that such a program might lead to restoring monarchy, which he had recently eliminated.

Other presidents have been satisfied with two elective terms as president. It seems to be a good idea, although there is no law about it.

THE other day Kerensky, now traveling in America, who had for a short time the pleasure of living in the czar's palace and is here to denounce Bolshevism, said that it was worse than czarism. He may change his mind now that an admirer of the czar has slapped his face at a public banquet.

Whatever else it may be, Bolshevism is an improvement on czarism, for the reason that it teaches the people of Russia to read and write and uses public moneys to feed half starved children.

BOLSHEVISM will not last because it is based on communism, a doctrine that calls for universal unselfishness and co-operation. No doctrine of that kind will work in this century, or the next, or the next.

Bolshevism will work out into a form of government such as we have here, expressing the period in which that government exists. In other words, organized money, intelligently directed, taking what it wants and giving the people enough to keep them well fed and contented.

RAILROAD men, doing their best to help stockholders, as they are bound to do, have concentrated on getting increased passenger fares and freight rates from the public authorities, and that has seemed good business. The time is not far off when good business will consist in finding a way to carry passengers and freight for less and thus making more money.

THE danger to the railroads is a small ridiculous looking thing on four wheels running along the highway, paralleling the highway on a "right of way" that costs the motor omnibus

Proposal to Cut Salary to $600 Annually Will Go On Ballot in November

Notice of Submission of Economy Measure is Served Upon City Auditor W. M. McGraw.

497 PETITIONERS ARE NECESSARY

Decision is Aftermath of Council's Rejection, by 4 to 3 Vote, of Plan to Reduce Payroll.

Proposed reduction of the mayor's salary from $1,800 to $600 a year will be submitted to a decision of the electorate of East Liverpool at the general election on Tuesday, November 8, it was announced today.

Text of Ordiance.

Formal notice of the call for a vote on an initiative ordinance, which, if approved, will become effective on and after January 1, 1928, was served during the forenoon upon City Auditor William M. McGraw.

Attorney G. Y. Travis, representing the petitioners, submitted the copy of the proposed initiative measure.

The ordinance reads as follows:

An Ordinance Establishing the salary of the Mayor of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, from and after the first day of January, 1928.

Be it ordained:

Section 1. That from and after the first day of January, 1928, the salary of the mayor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, shall be Six Hundred Dollars ($600.00) per year, payable Fifty Dollars ($50.00) monthly.

Section 2. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

File 40 Days Before Election.

J. S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the county election board, ruled that the vote should be taken in November, instead of August, when the primaries will be held.

Petitions must be filed with the auditor at least 40 days prior to the general election, or on or about Sept 28.

After retaining the petitions ten days for public inspection, the auditor shall certify them to the election board.

To Circulate Petitions.

Circulation of petitions will begin at once, it is said. Petitions must contain at least 10 per cent of the vote cast at the last mayoralty election, November, 1925.

The official poll announced following the election was: Benedum, Democrat, 3,158; Wilson, Republican, 1,807, or a total of 4,965.

Based on this figure, the petitions must contain at least 497 signers.

The initiative movement is an aftermath of council's defeat of a measure introduced a few weeks ago by Solon George Hughes. This proposal, also calling for a $600 salary, was rejected by a vote of 4 to 3. Councilmen Hughes, Kommel and Hayes supported it, while it was opposed by Solons Farrall, Goodballet, Keily and Poole.

Two years ago, councilmen enacted a salary-slashing measure, but it was vetoed by the then mayor, Charles Brown.

President Calles Of Mexico Extends Olive Branch to U. S.

MEXICO CITY, April 27.—President Calles in a long statement called forth by President Coolidge's New York speech, Monday evening, today declared "it is not only possible but easy to reach a friendly settlement of the differences existing between the United States and Mexico."

President Calles said he heartily agreed with President Coolidge's suggestion that differences, which are susceptible of solution by negotiation, be approached in a friendly spirit by both sides.

The Mexican executive declared that he favors negotiation rather than arbitration.

President Calles seized this occasion again to deny that the Mexican constitution or the new property and petroleum laws are confiscatory in spirit or will cause confiscations through their operation

GRAY'S STORY OF LOVE CRIME READ IN COURT

Jury Hears Salesman's Confession in Snyder Slaying.

BRUTAL MURDER

Blames Woman for Killing of Art Editor.

COURTHOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 27.—Henry Judd Gray's signed confession, giving a detailed story of the brutal slaying of Albert Snyder, art editor of "Motor Boating," was read to the jury by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe today at the trial of Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder for first degree murder.

The confession was admitted as evidence after a vigorous battle on the part of Gray's counsel to prevent its admission on the ground it was obtained under duress. The statement was signed in the office of the district attorney at 1:05 a. m. on March 22, 1927.

Difference In Confessions.

Gray's astounding confession differed in one essential point with Mrs. Snyder's confession which was read to the jury yesterday.

Mrs. Snyder said she stood in the hall while the corset salesman clubbed her sleeping husband with an iron sash weight. Gray, in his confession, said that when he got through hitting the man, she "belabored" him with the weight too.

"She made several other attempts to kill her husband," Gray also revealed. "In two instances she gave him sleeping powders or turned on the gas. I think she gave him bichloride of mercury when he was sick with hiccoughs."

Gray said for two weeks before the murder, while the plan that succeeded was concocted, he was "in a literal hell."

Ex-Senator Beveridge Dies In Indiana Home

Albert J. Beveridge.

Two Physicians and Mrs. Beveridge at Indianapolis Bedside as Death Comes in Sudden Relapse.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 27.—Former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, 65, died in his home here today after an illness of two weeks from heart trouble.

Death came in a sudden relapse, according to Dr. Charles P. Emerson of Indianapolis, Beveridge's physician.

Two weeks ago Dr. William Snyder Thayer, professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, was called into consultation here, and the two physicians had held hopes of an early recovery, Dr. Emerson said.

The senator had been most cheerful last night and had joked with his friends. His physicians had not regarded his condition as serious.

Word was sent immediately to the senator's two children, Albert, Jr., a student at St. Mark's academy at South Borough, Mass., and Abigail, a student at Foxcrost academy near Washington, D. C.

At the senator's bedside at the time of his death were the two physicians and Mrs. Beveridge.

Mrs. Beveridge was reported under care of physicians but not in a serious condition.

G. O. P. LEGISLATIVE LEADERS AND DEMOCRATIC OFFICIALS MAKE SEPARATE STUDIES OF STATE'S FINANCIAL CRISIS

By C. H. Haddox.

COLUMBUS, O., April 27.—Republican legislative leaders and Democratic state officials, versed in the financial affairs of state government, today continued their separate studies in efforts to solve the financial crisis confronting Buckeye state authorities.

G. O. P. legislative leaders, it was understood, were striving to determine what legislative action should be taken, when the solons reconvene here at 1:30 p. m., Monday, May 9, next.

Financial experts, in Democratic ranks, it was stated, are compiling statistics designed to support recommendations they propose to submit to Govrenor Vic Donahey soon, dealing with the condition of the state's finances, and which may guide the governor in such action as he may take on revenue-producing measures and on appropriation bills recently enacted by the Ohio legislature.

The nature of these contemplated recommendations has not been indicated.

Hint Special Session.

Intimate advisers of Governor Donahey today were silent relative to the report that the governor may call the legislators back in special session this summer, if the solons fail to take further action next month in an effort to remedy the state's financial distress.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, informed the governor of his estimate that the deficit in the state's general revenue fund will approximate $13,000,000 July 1, next, the beginning of the new state fiscal period.

Appropriations authorized by the present legislature total not less than $57,500,000 of state funds during the 18 months' period beginning July 1, next, it was stated.

Taking into consderation all measures, providing for increases in state taxes, passed at the present session, together with existing revenue-producing laws, state officials today estimated that not more than about $49,000,000 is in sight with which to pay the costs of state governmental activities during the 18 months' period.

Carpenter May Sponsor Bill.

This estimate embraces the expectation that the Aidler and Kumler measures, just passed, will provide an additional revenue of about $4,500,000 in state excise and corporation franchise taxes, and the belief that existing revenue-producing laws will yield about $44,500,000.

Even though the governor pares the appropriation measures to the fullest extent possible, it was claimed, the necessity for additional revenue-producing legislation will remain before the deficit in the state treasury can be wiped out.

Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville, Republican, chairman of the senate finance committee, was credited today with making a study of the state's financial situation with a view, possibly, to introducing a bill next month designed to yield additional money for the state's general revenue fund.

May Put Donahey "In Hole."

Some legislators, it was stated, favor the suggestion that the legislature pass another half-mill direct state tax levy bill, providing for collection of the tax next December, believing that the bill can be so worded as to meet with Donahey's approval.

Another legislative group is credited with opposing any further legislative action along this line, and with advising that no measures be passed over the governor's veto. Supporters of this proposal, it was stated, believe this would "put the governor in a hole"—politically—and would enable the Republicans to charge Donahey with responsibility for deficiency of state funds and curtailed highway construction.

WELLSVILLE'S FLOOD RELIEF FUND HITS $120 MARK

APPEAL MADE BY RED CROSS FOR $445 QUOTA

Half-way Line May be Reached Before Night.

VOLUNTARY GIFTS

Mail Checks to Treasurer Ralph Merriman.

Wellsville's relief fund for southern storm sufferers, part of the five million dollar fund that is being raised by the nation, at noon today had reached $120 and, in the opinion of Red Cross officials here, should at least hit the half way mark before tonight, the deadline.

The city's quota has been established at $445 by national Red Cross authorities.

In telegrams to officials of the Wellsville chapter last Sunday, an appeal was made to the city to raise, if possible, its entire quota by tonight.

It was pointed out that all haste possible be made in view of the fact that relief is needed immediately.

Up until last night Treasurer Ralph Merriman had received only $40, but between that time and today at noon this figure was tripled.

The Red Cross chapter has made no campaign but is placing the appeal up to citizens for voluntary gifts.

Checks or cash can be left with Mr. Merriman at the People's National bank.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement in the death of our daughter and niece, Audrey Martha Smeyers; especially Rev. Andre and choir, and also those who donated their cars and for the beautiful floral offerings.

REDUCTION IN ALIMONY ASKED

Harry H. Paisley, of Wellsville, whose wife, Georgia V. Paisley, obtained a decree of divorce last year, has filed a motion in common pleas court, seeking a modification of the alimony order of $60 per month as entered by the trial court.

The motion was filed for Paisley by his counsel, W. S. Stevenson, of East Liverpool, and relates that the $60 per month is unreasonable, and that it is in excess of the amount actually expended by the plaintiff for the support of the minor children, who are 18 and 15 years of age, respectively.

POLICE NAB RUNAWAY BOYS

Pittsburgh Youths Will be Sent Back Home.

Lloyd Fryman, 17 years old, of Pittsburgh, one of a pair of runaway boys picked up by Patrolmen Pugh, Hanlon and and Cole Monday night in the Wellsville railroad yards, was taken back to his home today by a sister.

Merle Smith, 18, Fryman's companion, is being held in jail here, pending word from his parents in Portage, Pa., near Pittsburgh.

While searching for the two lads, following information from Pittsburgh that they were enroute here, the police also arrested Ernest McFee, of Pittsburgh, and Lonnie Aalman, of Pikeville, Ky., near the railroad, on charges of suspicion. They are in jail.

Joseph Krieta, of Millport, arrested last night at 9:30 o'clock by Chief of Police John Fultz on a charge of driving past a street car which had stopped to discharge passengers, is scheduled for a hearing tonight.

FRESHMEN WIN TRACK EVENTS

First Year Girls Score 23½ Points to Cop Meet.

Wellsville freshmen girls have at least done their part toward bringing 1927 interclass track and field honors to the first year class. In the events that were completed yesterday the freshmen lassies scored a total of 23½ points, two points better than the sophomores, while the Juniors made 17 and the seniors none.

The scores made by the girl athletes will be added to the scores made by the boys and and the total for each class will decide its position in relation to the rival class teams.

Only three events have been run off in the boys' division thus far. Faculty Manager Trumbull announced today an effort will be made to complete the meet this afternoon, providing rain does not interfere.

The summary of the girls' events:

50-yard dash — Palleto, Freshman, first; Lucas, Sophomore, second; Irwin, Junior, third. Time, 7 and 5-tenths seconds.

80-yard dash — Palleto, Freshman, first; Lucas, Sophomore, second; Lewis, Sophomore, third. Time, 11 and 4-tenths seconds.

tor buses leave Los Angeles carrying passengers to Chicago. That doesn't amount to much. But they can carry twice as many passengers as there are on the magnificent San Fe "Chief" and motor truck nothing but the price of their license. Every day four motor express. And they bus overhead is one man driving and another man to relieve him.

Omnibus travel is uncomfortable travel and will never compete with the express train. But what about the flying machine that will soon be here?

AND what about freight hauling by omnibus? On the Mojave desert, where this writer has just started pumping 100,000 gallons of water an hour from one well, farmers buying agricultural machinery from Los Angeles do not ask the railroad to carry it.

The farmer calls up the truck line at Victorville. The freight motor truck delivers the mowing machine, plow or "seed drill" right in the farmer's barnyard. The freight bus costs a little more per hundred than the freight train. But what you order today you get tomorrow and it is delivered at your door.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, works in the mailing room of a printing and book-binding establishment. A former fellow employe.

LUCILLE OVERMAN, takes her to the Earthwide Picture studio where she is seen by

ARMAND DE BRISSAC, famous director. He makes a screen test of Hattie and takes her to California with him to make a picture, "Bagdad." With her go

GRANDMA, old and lame, and

ALICE, Hattie's married sister and her baby, all dependent on Hattie. Hat becomes engaged to

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man, although she is fascinated by the director. De Brissac wants her to go with him on his yacht for a week's cruise, when the picture is finished, but Hattie refuses and leaves the Earthwide studio to work for Plantagenet. She finds she cannot work without De Brissac, however. She meets Lucille who advises her to go back to De Brissac. Alice's husband,

ARTHUR, has deserted her several years before but he comes back and adds himself to Hattie's responsibilities. Hattie and Henry go to a private showing of the finished picture which is a great success. De Brissac is to form his own company and wants her to work with him.

He offers her a contract at $1,000 a week.

She meets Henry for dinner that night and tries to tell him how she hates pictures and about De Brissac; that she wants to get married and settle modestly in a little home of her own. He cannot understand and when she realizes it she leaves him and goes to De Brissac.

The second picture, "Pharaoh's Daughter," is released and is an even greater success than "Bagdad."

Another picture is made and when it is finished De Brissac proposes that he and Hattie shall go East and make personal appearances with the first showing.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE.

The De Brissac complication disturbed her; it might easily spoil the experience. And yet this desire to see the big city once more, to look up her old friends, to be feted and acclaimed in that wonderful way by the public, even the desire to run away from Hollywood where she had been so continually excited and so bitterly if vaguely unhappy—all this was like an ache in her heart. Yes, she must go.

"See here, Hattie, you mean to say you don't know what's the matter with me?"

"Why, no . . . Oh!"

Alice was nodding grimly.

"Yes, I'm going to have another one. You can't always forsee these things. We didn't—well, plan any such thing, of course. Not until Arthur could get on his feet more, but . . ."

She let that sentence die, too. Hattie, her color rising, was studying her plate. A fear that had quieted somewhat of late was painfully alive again. And with it a resentment . . . in a queer way it seemed as if Alice and Arthur should have consulted her, or at least considered her. There would be no checking the expense of it—doctors, hospital, special nurses, and all.

She heard Alice's voice going on—

"If only Arthur now . . . he needs a shape-up so . . . it would be wonderful for him . . . I don't think you always realize how hard he works for us all . . . I encourage him all I can to get out and mix around. He likes people. He needs them. But he devotes himself absoluetly . . ."

"I'll take Hedwig," said Hattie with the decisiveness of a child.

"But Hedwig could never look out for——"

"I'm going to take her." Hattie rose from the table. It was a bold step; but she was going, and not with Arthur, never with Arthur. She couldn't see her way . . . certainly she couldn't bring herself to tell De Brissac that Alice couldn't come . . . but she was going. With Hedwig, in that compartment! Back East . . . Harriet John! And she wondered if it was a Grand Canyon car. She hadn't yet seen the Grand Canyon.

There was no work at the studio. She went out to the garden behind the bungalow, walking and looking like a school girl in her simple blue dress and sweater and little white hat pulled down on her head. Arthur used the car a good deal. That was another small irritation. But it stood there in the garage; he had ridden over to Frank's with someone else today.

She drove over to Wiltshire Boulevard and turned in behind the Ambassador; parked her car there and strolled in quietly in along the corridor where the shops are that display Chinese and Japanese things and custom automobile bodies and fancy cigarettes and pretty things to wear. Somewhere in this labyrinth of corridors stood a rack of time tables. She had seen it. She lingered by the shop windows. It was stirring to know that she could, if she chose, step in through any one of these doorways and buy almost anything she wished. They'd gladly give her credit. She heard a group of tourists whispering among themselves and then, in the glass of a show-window, saw them glancing at her. She liked this. It was always happening nowadays, this being pointed out as the famous Harriet John. She lingered on to indulge fully in the luxury of it.

She found the rack, and took a brightly colored folder thta advertised the most popular trans-continental trains. There was a thrill in merely handling it. She folded it up and put it away in her bag; and then, very demurely, walked upstairs into the vast lounge and sat for a little while just because it was still a delight to know that she belonged here by right. Other groups recognized her. She tapped the arm of her chair with a slender finger and hummed very softly. New York! . . . Harriet John!

She put the car back in its garage and entered the bungalow without a sign of expression on her pretty face.

Arthur met her at the door. He must have been watching there. He drew her a little way along the porch in his most important manner.

"I've taken the liberty, Hattie——" she wished that he wouldn't whisper in that eager way "of bring a young chap along home. He was at Fran's this noon. He's just passing through. Here's the point—he writes for one of the big magazines down East, one of the swell ones—and he was asking at lunch if there was any way he could get an interview with Harriet John. Just pure luck! I was right there. Here's the point—it's a big chance. Real publicity. The kind you can't buy. He's one of these highbrows that knocks the pictures. But he says that there's no other screen artist that holds out so much hope for better pictures. That's the line to follow see! Better pictures, Art!"

He would have said more, but Hattie turned away. Eagerly then he followed her within.

The young man had dropped into one of the big chairs in the living room. His name was Mr. Dempster. He was blonde, like herself; she saw

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1927.

Farm Population

More than 2,000,000 people moved away from American farms last year, while a little more than 1,000,000 moved onto farms. It made a net movement from farm to city of 1,020,000. Natural increase of farm families brought down the net loss of farm population to 650,000.

That was to be expected, and is nothing to worry about. It has been evident, from the plight of the agricultural regions, that the people on the farms were able to produce more than the market could consume. The country can be fed and clothed, and the foreign market supplied with what it needs, with fewer farmers.

Improved machinery, methods and transportation make the difference. Agriculture just now is paying the price of progress. The loss of farm population is the natural remedy. Sooner or later a balance will be struck, and the rural sections will attain stable prosperity along with the industrial sections.

The Best Times

Some reporter asked Chauncey Depew, on his 93rd birthday, a question about "the good old times."

"There is no more rotten phrase," replied Depew. "All times are good times. The present time is the greatest time of all. These are good new times."

Of course they are. People who look to the past for perfection, lamenting their own time, not only lack historical understanding but lack practicality.

The present will doubtless stand comparison with any previous age, when every factor is considered. It we seem to lack spiritual progress, we have made plenty of progress in other fields, and have the stage all set now for progress in spiritual and idealistic things. And there is in this age at least a general spirit of kindliness that never prevailed before.

But we might ignore all the improvements the present has brought, and fall back on this supreme fact—that the present is better for us than any other time, past or future, could possibly be, because it is the time that is ours. It is the time we have for our life drama—the time in which we can live our present life and improve upon the past and contribute to the making of a better future.

The present is always best, because it is only in the present that man can act and grow and make destiny for himself and others.

The Greatest City

A writer who has been studying an American industrial section sometimes compared to the German Ruhr makes a remarkable prophecy about it.

In another half-century, he says, there will be what he calls "a continuous village" starting at Uniontown, Pa., extending to the west and north in a great crescent through Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit to Pontiac and Flint—a town 400 miles long and 60 miles wide in the thickest part, reaching into three states.

That will be "some village"! It really seems possible, judged by past development and present conditions.

Such growth will be highly profitable for business in that area. It will mean immense profits in real estate. Will it be so good for living conditions? That is doubtful. To millions of people, the prospect of living in a city of about 20,000 square miles will seem dreadful.

"No More Privacy"

A cartoon by Ireland in the Columbus Dispatch depicts poor little Mr. Public being chased off the earth by the X-ray, the periscope, the 200-mile-an-hour automobile, the airplaine, the radio and the television telephone. His cry as he leaps into space is "No more privacy!"

There are times when a good many persons feel, momentarily, that there are almost too many splendid new inventions and discoveries. Peace and quiet and privacy seem to be no more. If a person refuses to install any of these modern devices in his own home he often finds it hard to escape his neighbor's. Depression thereupon follows naturally enough.

Yet this feeling is not necessary. All of these things are potentially pleasant or useful to mankind. It is their wrong use only that makes them a plague and terror. Temperance and wisdom in their employment would make them appear wholly good and remove completely their seeming faults.

Alas! No one has yet invented anything that would make the whole human race immediately either temperate or wise.

Some folks are still dubious about business this year, but the Steel Trust, alias Business Barometer, is producing at 95 per cent capacity, in the evident expectation that somebody's going to buy and use the stuff.

Give Chiang Kai Shek a little time. Our own revolutionary war took eight years, and wasn't entirely over then.

IT TOOK THAT LONG FOR THE APPLAUSE

An English vaudeville team came over here in the hope of landing an American engagement. They obtained an interview with a representative of E. F. Albee, head of the big eastern circuit.

They told him how clever they were, how new their songs were, how fresh their jokes, how spirited their banter. They showed him their scrapbook of press notices from British newspapers. He was impressed.

"Well," he said, when they were through with singing their own praises, "we'll give you a try-out in one of our houses. We'll put you on next Monday afternoon for the matinee at such-and-such a theatre."

Highly pleased, the visiting performers reached for their hats.

"Hold on," said the American, "I forgot one thing: How long does your act run?"

"Twenty minutes," stated the senior of the pair.

"That'll never do. We can't give a new patter act more than twelve minutes on one of our bills."

"Impossible!" exclaimed the spokesman. "Why, we bow for ten minutes!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—The other evening in one of those clattery chop houses on West 48th street I was hedged in at a center table alone. On the back of a menu I jotted down scraps of conversation floating from surrounding tables. Here they are, without change:

Josephine Baker did a split on a runway . . . Paris is quite worth while . . . Ella was trying to get another station and got him . . . He's a western preacher and quite cultivated . . . And then a bum at the Doyers street mission told of being converted . . . He was a scream.

I've lived in New York 21 years and no one has ever said an unkind thing to me about the Jewish religion . . . I never did drink until lately. And I got to liking it. So I quit . . . There's a place opposite the Strand theatre where you can buy silk stockings until midnight.

George, dear, don't you think you'd better phone about the baby . . . I did that to put you wise. He saw you holding my hand. Now cut it out. . . Innes died in the 90's. Sargent has always been my favorite . . . Sometimes I spend an hour looking at one picture.

There's something about coffee in brass pots . . . He comes here every month from Columbus, O., and never brings his wife. She's either an invalid or terribly dumb . . . I like to read Mencken, but I prefer Nathan. They certainly write what they think.

Coney is all right, but I usually go to Long Beach. It has more class . . . Lulu was here the other day. Bert Savoy was hit by lightning . . . Waiter, what do you use around here for sugar? . . . I've tried for six Sundays to get in a movie. The only way is to go to some country town.

Her name was Edith, but she changed it to Edithya and went to live on The Drive . . . Paul Whiteman's face is painted on his orchestra drum. Good thing they didn't have to paint it on a flute . . .

And that is what a section of the great American public is thinking!

Giant corporations continue to deplete newspaper ranks of crack men by giving them the post of "vice president in charge of public relations," which is the new glorification of the press agent job. In the past year five have gone to such positions, receiving salaries from $30,000 to $50,000 yearly.

Hospitality of a night club manager to a slightly objectionable reveler: "You'd please a lot of customers around here by stepping into the alley and cutting your throat." So the patron haughtily paid his $28 check and departed and will likely stay away a week, just for spite.

The son of a New York actor is said to be Hollywood's highest salaried title writer, averaging $2,000 a week. Here is one of his titles:

"That bird reminds me of 'Sitting Bull'—only he out-bulls and out-sits him."

Chalked sign over the entrance to a 40th street wood and kindling cellar: "No credit to all."

New York tailors are thumbing down on extended credit. For many years it was the cute custom, if there was a balance at the end of the year, to send something to the tailor. One of the most exclusive establishments only sent out yearly statements and felt lucky if they were paid a year later. A number of smart places extend only a 30-day credit and a number of others operate on a strictly cash basis.

A certain rich Wall Streeter used to pay his tailor every five years. He was recently notified of the 30-day limit. He wrote on the bottom of the statement: "Close my account. My honesty hasn't changed, even if your system of collections has."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Uncle Sam's Films.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—During the season for field work which has just opened and will continue until September, Uncle Sam, as a movie producer, will make twenty new films. In the making of these motion pictures of the department of Agriculture, is sending three crews into the field. They will cover a large part of the United States this year, operating as far west as Utah.

Neither the names nor the subjects of the twenty new pictures will be announced. This, for the reason that if they were made public at this time the department would be overwhelmed with requests and demands for the films. Experience has taught those who handle government movies this lesson, which is regarded as the most conclusive evidence of the popularity of this particular line of Uncle Sam's numerous activities.

After the field work is over in September the fall and winter months will be devoted to editing, titling, cutting, and assembling the new films, and when they are completed and ready for distribution the public will be informed of their nature and given a chance to have them shown in all sections of the United States.

These pictures, along with those produced in years past, are intended primarily to aid in the extension work of the department of Agriculture and are distributed through the division that handles that and through cooperating state agencies. In addition, the films can be borrowed for exhibition purposes by farmers' organizations, schools, colleges, churches, community centers, theatres, or individuals, who are responsible and will guarantee the transportation charges both ways.

Also prints of any of the pictures may be purchased by organizations or individuals under authorization of the department from a commercial manufacturer at prices that have been established by competitive bidding. The prices range from $21 to $23 per reel of approximately 1,000 feet. Incidentally, it may be said, the government has been doing a fairly good business in selling prints of many of its pictures, a considerable number of them even having been titled in foreign languages and sold abroad.

Conditions Governing Purchase.

The conditions governing such purchases are that no changes be made in the subject matter of the films without approval from the department of Agriculture, that credit to the department be retained, and that no commercial advertising matter be added to or inserted in the films.

Each unit or crew that the office of Motion Pictures is now sending into the field consists of a director, a camera man, and a subject matter man, who is usually a scientist familiar with the lesson that the film to be made is expected to teach. The actors are secured in the localities where the scenes are shot. Usually they are amateurs of the purest ray serene. Sometimes the services of semi-professionals are enlisted, and occasionally professionals are engaged for the leads in pictures carrying a story that calls for real acting ability in its delineation.

Six new pictures have been added this spring to the already long list that had been produced and catalogued by the department. One of them tells the story of cooperative marketing in the United States, and is resigned to give a good idea of the extent of the movement and of the volume of business that is done by the various marketing organizations. Two of the new films were produced as educational features for the fight which the department is waging against the European corn borer.

Another is entitled "Mother Takes a Vacation" and depicts the activities of Farm Women's Vacation Camps conducted by state extension services in the West. It was photographed in Montana and Idaho. The fifth is somewhat similar in character and is called "The Family Goes to College." It shows the annual farmers' encampment at the Utah Agricultural college, how farmers from all over the state go there for the July short course, and what they do after they get there. The sixth tells the story of the short course for farm boy and girl club members at Washington State college and the University of Idaho, and of the relationship of an agricultural education to practical farming and home-making.

Many Pictures Available.

More than 225 pictures are now listed in the catalogue of the office of Motion Pictures, and their subject matter ranges from airplane "dusting" and airplane fire patrols to yaukon—which is another name for cassina, a beverage producing plant—and zoology. The growth of the service is shown in the rapid increase in the prints that the office has been called upon to supply. In 1922, 2066 shipments were made from the laboratory, and in 1926, 4276. More than 2,000,000 feet of film are now being circulated from the headquarters in Washington, and approximately an equal quantity is being circulated by the cooperating institutions and organizations.

No serious attempt has been made to estimate the size of Uncle Sam's motion picture audience, but obviously it is an immense one. It is equally obvious that it might be much larger but for the fact that the number of

FINE FOR CHILDREN!

Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the eliminative tract. Not a nasty cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath, and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely known family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to, keep their bodies in active healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 15c, 30c and 60c sizes.

Sciatic-Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsult form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Continue faithfully and in a reasonable time you should be able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews' Med. Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

HEWITT, CONDEMNED SLAYER, MAY SEEK NEW TRIAL

BOY, 16, FACES DEATH CHAIR FOR KILLING

Conneaut Lad Silent, But His Mother Collapses.

SPEEDY VERDICT

Fred Brown, Husband and Father of Victims, Satisfied.

JEFFERSON, O., April 27.—Possibility of filing a motion for a new trial in the Floyd Hewitt murder case, was under discussion today by Defense Attorneys D. F. Dunlavy and F. R. Hogue, following conviction of the 16 year old Conneaut boy Tuesday afternoon on a first degree murder indictment.

The defense has three days in which to file such a motion.

Hewitt was mum today on the verdict which carried with it the extreme penalty. His mother, Mrs. Olive Hewitt, is in a state of collapse and under the care of a physician

Fred Brown, husband and father of the young woman and five year old boy who were slain in the Brown home at Conneaut last February 14, expressed satisfaction with the verdict.

"I believe justice has been done," he said.

Youngest to Face Electrocution.

The jury which convicted the youth deliberated but 65 minutes. The jurors took three ballots, one on the question of guilt, one on the degree of guilt; and one on recommendation of mercy. They reached unanimous agreement on each ballot.

Unless higher courts or the governor intervene, Hewitt will die in the electric chair at Columbus penitentiary August 10. Presiding Judge Charles R. Sargent pronounced sentence immediately after the jury reported.

Hewitt wil be the first person in the history of Ashtabula county to pay the death penalty, if the sentence is carried out, and perhaps the youngest person ever to be electrocuted in the state of Ohio.

Ex-Senator Beveredge

Born in Ohio.

Beveridge served eight years in the senate.

In 1912 he was chairman of the progressive national convention in Chicago, and went down to defeat with Roosevelt. He did not essay a return to public life until 1922, when he was nominated in the primaries, but failed of election.

Beveridge was born in Highland county, Ohio, on October 6, 1862, when his father and brothers were off to war. The elder Beveridge came home, at the ending of the war, in a bad financial way and moved the family to Indiana, where young Beveridge led a life of privation.

Early Life of Hardship.

He became a ploughboy at twelve, railway laborer at fourtten and teamster and logger at fifteen. He had a gift for combining words into high-sounding sentences and used to go out into the woods by himself and declaim to the trees—a sort of Demosthenes, who substituted the forest for the seashore.

He conceived the ambition of going to West Point, but was penalized several points during the examinations when he laughed at a joke and lost the examination by 1-5 of 1 per cent

A neighbor loaned him $50, and he matriculated at De Pauw university, working his way through as steward in an eating club and by peddling books during vacations. He won most of the college awards, including the $100 prize for oratory. He rapidly developed into an orator and soon was able to outdistance the crack university speakers in the Middle West.

He carried away from the university a bachelor's and master's degree.

After a breakdown and convalescence on a western ranch fi he returned to Indianapolis and passed the bar examinations.

As a full-fledged lawyer he fought the local political machine, was appointed counsel in big litigations and won his first real political experience in the campaign of James G. Blaine in 1884, when, at twenty-two, he gained the sobriquet of "the Boy Orator."

He had been an indefatigable writer and in 1912 wrote a book called "Invisible Government." It attracted national attention. He crowned his literary work in 1919 with the "Life of John Marshall," first Chief Justice of the United States. He was noted as a lecturer on John Marshall and on the Bible.

President Sends Condolence.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The sudden death of ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, came as a shock today to officialdom in the capital, where he had many friends.

President Coolidge sent the following message of condolence to Mrs. Beveridge:

"It is with a feeling of personal loss that I have learned of the passing of your distinguished husband. In scholarship, in literature and in politics he was a great American figure. I express to you and your family the sympathy of Mrs. Coolidge and myself."

Bucyrus Farmer Kills Himself.

BUCYRUS, O., April 27.—Funeral arrangements were being made here today for John Merwine, 60, farmer, who committed suicide by shooting late yesterday. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

Coolidge Ignores "Smoke Out" Plan on Third Term Issue

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The first really serious effort to "smoke out" President Coolidge on the third term issue has come to naught.

Mr. Coolidge, it was announced at the White House today, will ignore the open letter addressed to him yesterday by the Forum magazine, in which he was challenged to present his views to the country on the proposition that no president should attempt to continue in office beyond the traditional eight years established by George Washington.

The challenging letter was written by John Carter of New York, and was designed to give Mr. Coolidge an opportunity to present his views to the country in the same manner that Gov. Al Smith recently defined his views on religion in replying to an open letter in the Atlantic Monthly.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 27.—A tendency to higher prices in the motor and public utility stocks was the principal feature of the early trading in the stock market today. The railroad stocks were firm, with Bangor and Aroostock continuing sensational advance to 81¾, compared with yesterday's low price of 68. Steel and oil stocks were firm but inactive.

Early selling of United States Steel common was based on the shrinkage of first quarterly earnings as compared with the final quarter of 1926, but buying demand was strong, and the stock rallied to Tuesday's closing price level. General Motors at 193 had regained practically all of the ground lost in Monday's violent slump., while Chrysler Motor, Hudson Mack Trucks and Packard sold up in good form.

The bullish forces pressed their advance against the bears in a number of market favorites, including a good volume of short coverings of stocks sold on Monday. Despite the 26,000 barrel daily increase in crude oil output last week, the oil stocks were firm, with Pan American up a point, and numerous Standard and indpendent oil shares up a fraction to full point or more. Houston snapped back to 113½ for a 4-point gain.

RESCUE 3,000 REFUGEES AT ARKANSAS CITY

Marooned People Taken to Pine Bluff and Helena.

FOOD ARRIVES

Little Change in Mississippi Flood Conditions.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 27.—Rescue operations centered today at Arkansas City, where 3,000 refugees have been marooned for 48 hours. They were being taken by barges to Pine Bluff and Helena, Ark.

Otherwise, flood conditions in the Mississippi delta were unchanged today. Greenville and surrounding towns were still under water but most of the refugees have been taken to Vicksburg for safety.

A steady stream of supplies of all sorts—food, clothing, tents, first aid kits—were sent from Memphis to the various Red Cross concentration camps along the flooded Mississippi river, almost as soon as they arraived on every train from the north.

Another levee break was reported overnight. The dyke near Osceola broke, flooding the Arkansas towns of Kilso, Elmore, Dermot, Wilson and Tyler.

Flood waters north of Memphis were slowly receding and in northwest Tennessee, southeast Missouri and in Kentucky the farmers were planning to return to their homes.

More than 2,500 of the flood refugees are encamped on the fair grounds here.

Gray's Story

Snyder Fought Back.

Snyder fought back when he went in to kill him, Gray also disclosed.

"After I hit him the first blow with the window weight he started to fight," he disclosed, "and she got excited. He got me by the necktie and I think she started to belabor him with the sash weight."

Gray sat with bowed head, which drooped lower and lower, as the confession was read to the jury.

Mrs. Snyder, pale, and in black as usual, sat with compressed lips frequently shaking her blonde head negatively.

District Attorney Newcombe read the confession without any attempt at elocutory effect.

Admits Intimate Relations.

"I make this statement voluntarily of my own free will, without fear or coercion, knowing that anything I may say may be used against me," Gray had said.

"I was introduced to this Mrs. Snyder about two years ago in town by Harry Folsom. I believe that he had picked she and another girl up at the restaurant. I came in from a trip and he introduced me to her. I didn't see her—I don't think—for two or three months after that. I would say probably it was two months when she wrote me and asked me to get her a corset. I am in the corset business, a salesman. I did that.

"She is a woman of great charm—I probably don't have to tell you that—and I did like her very much and she was good company and apparently a good pal to spend an evening with.

"I think that the intimate relations started in August, if I am not mistaken. I thing in September we started to correspond. I was in the habit of getting two or three letters a day—one practically every day when I was away from home.

Told Her He Was Married.

"She became confidential in the fact that she and her husband were not getting along.

"I think it was in November or December that she spoke about increasing the insurance on her husband's life. She told me that it was to be $50,000, as I recall.

"I saw quite a little of her from then on. She would come in town shopping and call me up. She called me considerably, and wrote to me very often. I will say, to use the slang, she did me pretty hard for a while. I was out to her house for luncheon and met her mother. I don't think her mother knew of the relations which existed. At the time I met her I told her I was married. I was very happy at home and had a very fine wife.

Gave Husband Poison, He Says.

"As this thing kept growing she made several attempts upon his life. She told me, and I told her I thought she was terrible. I think in two instances she gave him sleeping powders or so-called sleeping powders and turned on the gas. I think she gave him bichloride of mercury at the time he was sick with hiccoughs. She wrote me, she gave him four at one time and six at another. All her plans seemed to fail. She started then to hound me on this plan. I said, absolutely no. Then I didn't see her so often as I did. Later she told me that she and her husband had a big fight one night and she said 'isn't it strange that some man said that if he didn't treat me better he would kill him?'

"As I recall it, there were at least five or six attempts that were made on his life, none of which were successful. Then she started to hound me upon this plan to assist her.

Pays Tribute to Wife.

"I have always been a gentleman and I have always been absolutely on the level with everybody. I have a good many friends. If I ever have after this I don't know. I absolutely refused at first. With some veiled threats and intents of love making, she reached the point where she got me in such a whirl that I didn't know where I was.

"During the past two weeks since this plan was concocted I have been in a literal hell. That is the truth because I have a very fine little wife and a wonderful daughter.

"I went over to her home about two weeks ago tonight on a call from her that day at the office and I think I walked Queens village for two hours and a half and absolutely gave up any idea of it. I started to hear from her again when I got out on the road and called her up and she said this night of last Saturday when they were going to a party that she would leave the doors open that I might get in. So I went in the house and I was coming downstairs to beat it when they drove up the front. I had to duck upstairs as I was three quarters down. I went back to her mother's bedroom and sat there and she came in and came upstairs. She asked me if I was there. The implements were underneath her mother's pillow. She had written me about all the plans and details of what it was to be.

"I purchased a window weight and the chloroform for her. I bought the handkerchief also. This may sound as though I was more than vitally interested in any outcome. I wasn't because I never really in my own mind thought that I would go through with it.

Struck First Blow.

"She came in that night and said: 'You are going to do it, aren't you?' I said 'I think I can.' I sat there for probabaly an hour. They got in about 2 o'clock and I told her to go back into bed, figuring that I could steal away. But she didn't go, she sat right there at the doorway and I started after her. She went first.

"I fololwed her to the bedroom and it was I that hit him the first blow with this window weight. He started to fight and she got very much excited. I scarcely knew what did happen for a short time. He got me by the necktie and I think, I am positive, that she started to belabor him with the sash weight after that. She had the bottle of chloroform and the handkerchief which she poured on the bed.

"I don't know whether she gagged him or not. She passed me a necktie to tie his feet and she covered up his head. He was still alive the last that I heard. She said, 'Is he dead?' I said, 'no.' She said this thing has absolutely got to go through. I said 'well, I am through' I had got the picture wire. There were two pieces. I am pretty sure if you gentlemen said that there was wire around his neck, that it must have been tied by her. Don't know whether it was around his neck or not. I went right back to the bathroom. I had blood on my shirt and hands and came back to the bedroom when I noticed the blood on my shirt and on my vest. I had my coat off because it was so hot in there. Things were just a big haze during that period.

Changed Shirts.

"I didn't know where I was. I couldn't seem to collect my brain for a minute. She brought me in a shirt of his and it was a new shirt. It was blue. I took off my own shirt and I didn't know that she burned it until after she told me that she also burned a robe of hers which was all covered with blood. I think she also burned a night gown. I was there at that time, was putting on my shirt.

"She called me down to the cellar and told me what she had done and she had hidden the weight. I had it wrapped in paper because I didn't think it would hurt so much. She evidently stripped that because it was bare. I came upstairs and started to throw things about as you know to make it appear as though it were a robbery. I know I sat there and had three or four drinks. She gave me this bottle that went to Syracuse. She had given me I guess a small bottle, together with a larger bottle, which I think was probably the cause of my own doings as far as I was concerned, because even when I was sitting there I firmly in my own mind absolutely said it would not go through. But it did, unfortunately. I went down stairs and this story was then thought of. She said that some Italian had come into the house or some Italian had been seen around there.

"I happened to pick up this piece of Italian paper in a train coming over that night and I put it in my pocket, which accounts for that part of it.

"I sat there and said, 'I don't think you better make it one, you better make it two.' That is as far as my plans went."

Midgets Plan Benefit

B. R. Johnson, campaign chairman. "The Red Cross is seeking to raise but $5,000,000 but this will not be sufficient to provide the relief which will be needed before the crisis has passed."

The Helen Gould Literary club has made a contribution of $10, while a $5 subscription has been announced by the Aid Society of the Curry Memorial church.

Chairman's Appeal.

The following appeal was made to the "people of East Liverpool" by the campaign chairman:

"The greatest flood in history ravages in the Mississippi valley. A hundred thousand helpless souls call for help. The rains continue to fall, and slowly, but surely, the waters of the flood spread until finally the entire basin of the bottom lands in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, parts of Illinois and Kentucky will be inundated with at least five feet more water than has ever been recorded

"The dead now totals at least 200 while thousands of others face peril, hunger, cold and sickness. At the rate of 50 miles a day the flood waters move southward. The reason the waters move so slowly is due to the fact that the lands in the lower Mississippi basin are low and almost level, but as surely as the tides, the waters will cover the entire country within the area indicated by the dispatches.

"East Liverpool, with 6,000 other centers in this country, has been requested to raise funds to meet the crises of this hour. The need for money is imminent. Today the call goes forth. Our quota is small, only $1225. But no doubt, it will be doubled before the need is finally met in the flood districts.

"If civilization is more than a name, if the story of the good Samaritan, told a thousand years ago, and repeated again and again to every child born into the world, is to mean more than a tale that is told, let the folks demonstrate in this hour of need that the human race will respond with gifts of mercy to those who call to us in despair.

"Think of a city more than four times the size of East Liverpool, and every soul in want, hungry and dependent! Think of an inland sea one fourth the size of Ohio and a hundred thousand men and women and children surrounded by that sea, helpless to help themselves unless some one brings them food, medicine and the necessary comforts of life! Birth and death go on there, life's tragedies are only intensified. The common events of the ordinary now become tragedies of the first degree.

"We must help! As you lay down this paper get out your check book and write. Today about 40 men are out in the city calling upon citizens of this community to assist in meeting East Liverpool's quota. It will be impossible for this small number to see every one who should give.

"Therefore we request that you go to your own bank and deposit your money there. Every bank in the city is a depository for the relief funds for this cause. If no one calls on you, remember your duty is none the less removed. Every wage earner can give something. Let East Liverpool, all of East Liverpool respond!"

Divert Mississippi's Water.

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—Historic New Orleans today emerged from the shadow of disaster. The lapping of the Mississippi's most disastrous flood in history against the New Orleans levees will be relieved by the blasting of the levee at Poydras Crevasse, 10 miles below the city, on Friday. Authority for this drastic relief measure was given by Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of the United States army engineer corps, following the urgent appeal of New Orleans and Louisiana officials and the unanimous membership of the Mississippi river commission, the joint control body in charge of lower river levees.

Louisiana presented its urgent petition to Washington. Secretary of War Davis left the decision to General Jadwin, who, as a member of Secretary of Commerce Hoover's relief party, has maintained direct personal contact with the flood situation since it attained disastrous proportions last week.

Army engineers are confident the levee blasting will divert sufficient water from the main channel to the rampant Mississippi to remove all danger of flooding the crescent city.

Hoover on Job.

The spillway will open a new channel into Lake Borgne, through which the still rising waters above the city will be diffused over a wide area, draining into the Gulf of Mexico. The artificial crevasse will flood 10,000 acres of sparsely populated semi-swamp from which approximately three thousand persons must be evacuated before the blasting.

Secretary Hoover will remain in New Orleans today and tomorrow.

While today's developments reduce the probability of further serious flood disaster, Secretary Hoover emphasized that the pressure of Red Cross relief activity among the more than 150,000 homeless victims continued unabated.

CITY AGREES TO PAY $5,000 ON STREET JOB

County Bears $3,000 of Balance on West End Work.

EXCESS CHARGES

Traction Company Asks Council to Build Retaining Wall.

Terms of the settlement between the city of East Liverpool and the county commissioners regarding the payment of an $8,000 balance for the improvement of West Eighth street were announced today.

The commissioners agreed to stand for $3,000 of the added expense involved in the widening, grading and surfacing, while the city will pay approximately $5,000.

The settlement was arranged at a conference between the commissioners, members of city council and a representative of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company in the municipal headquarters.

Councilmen Hughes, Goodballet, Poole, Hayes and Kommel approved the settlement, while Solons Farrall and Kelly voted against it. The latter two contended that inasmuch as the plans for the proposed improvement had been altered after the city council had approved them that the city could not be held responsible for the additional cost.

Estimates for the cost of the original improvement were $75,000, of which the county was to contribute $20,000, the street car company $15,000 and the city $40,000. However, the bill of the contractors amounted to more than $83,000, and the city was charged with the unpaid balance.

The street car company's share is to be paid in five annual installments. The traction company has asked the city to construct a retaining wall for their tracks along the scene of the improvement, and, according to Councilman Farrall, the payments have been held up until council complies with the request. The company asserts that the fill on the southside of the railway was not made in compliance with the terms of the contract and that their tracks will be endangered unless a retaining wall is constructed.

LEGISLATURE IS SPEEDING WORK

Resolution Offering Aid to Flood Sufferers is Adopted.

While the budget bill and power bill absorbed the spotlight in the legislature yesterday a number of other measures gained some attention, particularly in the house, which after disposing of its budget bill in the morning turned to its special calendar.

A resolution offering from West Virginia to flood sufferers of the Mississippi valley such assistance as the governor may deem proper, was adopted by the house and sent to the senate for its concurrence.

Two bills were passed by the house during the afternoon, one providing for the agriculture department's work to control the corn borer, this bill being repassed as amended by the senate and the other making some changes in the game and fish law, one of which set the license fee at $1.50, this license covering both fishing and hunting. The house refused again to amend the text book bill to include McGuffey's reader as asked by Delegate Street, and put the bill once more on its final reading. The senate bill covering salaries of the board of control was amended to make the annual salary $6,000 and it and a dozen other measures were advanced to their reading.

The senate in its night session also took up some bills on its special calendar, passing three local measures affecting respectively the city of Spencer, the city of Weston and the city of Beckley.

Both senate and house passed the bill amending the prohibition law to eliminate the $10 arrest fee formerly allowed in liquor cases. Appropriations in the budget bill for the prohibition department it was explained have taken care of expenses of the department so that the fee will no longer be needed.

Committee of the local Legion members will carry personal invirations to posts at Alliance, Canton, Sebring, Salem, Beaver Falls, Rochester, Youngstown and other points in the tri-state district in an effort to arouse interest in the outing, which will be sponsored by the local post. Park Manager C. C. Macdonald also promised his co-operation in advertising the affair and making it a success

A barbecue will be one of the features.

A district meeting of the Forty and Eight society, the "fun" organization of the Legion, will likely be held in the evening.

A band contest, in which cash prizes will be awarded, is also proposed. "SLIDE, KELLY, SLIDE," IS HIT

William Haine s and Sally O'Neill at American.

You can't blame a girl for falling in love with a baseball player—if he happens to be William Haines! Half of America's flapperdom was in love with him before — but when he romped onto the athletic field in that New York uniform — when he knocked the homer and won the game—aaaaah!

That's why "Slide, Kelly, Slide," now playing at the American theatre, will make every flapper's heart bound with joy. It is the ideal picture for the great American flapper. A love story — one of the prettiest ever told on the screen—it's told in a new way.

The flapper goes to the ball game. She sees the world series; she sees the mighty giants of American baseball struggle in the classic of the year — while teeming grandstands roar in excitement.

She sees famous ball players playing their roles in real life — with William Haines as one of them, and charming little Sally O'Neal as the heroine — daughter of a ball player and loved by the youngest star of the game.

The story is a spectacle — crammed with thrills, excitement — and with plenty of comedy, all woven around the love story of the boy and girl. It's great—and it's beautiful.

Haines as the country boy who makes the big team, and Sally as the daughter of the veteran catcher of the Yankees, head a noble cast. Harry Carey has a wonderful role as the catcher, Sally's father — and there is a comical love affair as counter-relief between Karl Dane and Eileen Sedgwick.

EAST LIVERPOOL WOMAN SUFFERED FROM CHILDHOOD WITH CATARRH

Says World's Tonic Removed Scabs in Nose, Watering of Eyes, Ringing Noises in Head, Offensive Breath and Mucus Dripping Into the Throat

World's Tonic Treatment for Catarrh is Systematic and Gives Quick and Lasting Results

The unusual merit of World's Tonic, the systemic treatment for catarrh, is seen in the number of stubborn cases of long standing which it has relieved.

"Ever since I was a girl I suffered from catarrh of the head. It was very disagreeable. Dry scabs formed in my nose every night. My eyes watered so bad it was an effort to read. I often had heavy, dull headaches; mucus dripped from my head into my throat almost constantly. I had to keep clearing my throat most of the time. There were ringing noises in my ears; each morning my tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth. In addition, my breath was foul and I was ashamed to get near anyone for fear they would get a whiff of my breath.

"World's Tonic is the only thing that ever helped me. It has entirely relieved my catarrh. I gave World's Tonic a fair trial and I have used five bottles in all and my former trouble has completely disappeared. I am recommending World's Tonic to all my friends," said a young Florence street matron.

A special treatment for catarrh has long been needed. This can now be had in World's Tonic. It is a systemic treatment and combats the disease in two ways—first, by relieving the distress in the nasal passages and throat, which it does almost at once; second by combating the disease at the very seat of the trouble, within the system. Nothing like World's Tonic has even been offered the public before. It has brought astonishing results in many cases.

If you suffer from Catarrh, talk with the World's Tonic druggist. He will explain the treatment to you. Sold at Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and all other reliable druggists.

A Perfectly Good Reason.

A country wedding was now in full swing. The minister asked the congregation if there was anyone there who objected to the wedding. Silence was pronounced, but all of a sudden the unlucky admirer of the girl stood up.

"I object."

"And what is your objection based on?" asked the minister.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking!

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

Vibrationless Performance and 10,000 Mile Guarantee Proving Worth of New Star

Three Years Ahea d of Competitors, Latest Developments in Automotive World Show; C. E. Kidder and Son Devoted Entirely to Star Service.

Absolute lack of vibration—a 10,000 mile guarantee, with no time limit qualification—modern oil pressure and water cooling systems—low up-keep, greater riding comfort, longer life—these and many other countless features which the motorist constantly looks for in the car he wants to own, are making the Star automobile, handled in East Liverpool by C. E. Kidder & Son in the East End, one of the season's best sellers.

Star cars today are three years in advance of their competitors in improvements. Modern automobiles of the high class price class today are adopting features that were installed in Star cars back in 1922 and 1923.

One of the most important of these features is the straight ine drive. The first Star car built embodied the straight line drive The Star was also among the first of the smaller type cars to use the positive pressure system of oiling and pressure system of cooling.

It is impossible to make a Star boil if the required amount of water is kept in the radiator. It is also impossible to murn out a bearing if oil requirements are met.

It is common knowledge that the Star competitors have been and still are frantically trying to procure an automobie to compete with the Star in point of ow upkeep, riding comfort and long life. Follow the development of the Star, know its features and compare.

If familiar at all with the mechanics of automotive power you will likely find cars in the $1,500 to $3,600 class copying features of the little '23 Star.

Look in the motor ads, read thefr different features, then go lift up the hood of any 1923 Star and there you will find them, too.

With the last vestige of vibration absolutey eiminated the the Star now can compare with practicaly any of the higher priced machines and all Star models are listed under $1,000. This must be considered a step still further in the lead.

Lack of vibration chiefly is the result of the fact that the Star motor is cushioned in rubber, producing smooth performance and a smooth flow of power at all speeds.

The workmanship and materials that go into the present bodies are the best that can be obtained. Test them and see. Rip out the upholstering in the modern Star and you'l find just about what you'd ook for in the higher priced ines.

All these things lead Star followers to the belief that there is no comparison with the Star in its own price line. The Star boasts more power, greater economy, longer life, and easier riding and driving facilities.

And they are guaranteed, too.

In addition to the usual 90-day warranty the Star is guaranteed for 10,000 miles. This guarantee, besides, carries no time limit with it.

The Star is inspected and thoroughly cleaned every 500 miles, thereby insuring perfect service at all times.

And one feature of the Star service is that eevry owner knows exactly what his operating expense for 10,000 miles will be. The local Star dealer nLdivibhaig BeBhHrliscarinsuinrg furnishes everything for a Star four except gasoline and tires for $69.70. This includes all labor, oil, grease, parts and all necessities, with the two exceptions mentioned.

The local Star dealer will be gad to expain their plan more in detail. C. E. Jidder and Son are already known for their complete co-operation with the Star owner. This organization is devoted entirely to Star service.

Tires Trim High Nine; Clash With Turk-Nash Club Saturday

Chester School Boys Blanked In Practice Tilt At Smith Field

Manager Riley Lining up Forces for Exhibition With Motors; Billiards Drilling Diligently; K. T. K., Laughlin and Wellsville Busy.

The Superior Cord Tires of the City Industrial League pounded out 13 hits off two Chester high school pitchers and copped the exhibition clash with the school boys yesterday afternoon at Smith Field, 11 to 0.

Evans and Zorzie shared mound duties for the Tires, the pair handing out a total of five hits during the game. Five errors also aided in the downfall of the school team.

Simcox and Wilde, the latter a regular infielder with the Tires, pitched for High School.

The two clubs will tange again on Thursday at Smith Field at 5:30 and the performance of the Tires will give Manager Riley some idea as to his lineup for the contest on Saturday afternoon with John Fowler's Turk Nash City League squad. The Saturday engagement will start at 3:30.

	R.	H.	E
Superior Cords	11	13	0
High School	0	5	5

Evans, Zorzie and McMath, Vanaman; Simcox, Wilde and Delong.

The Turk Nash squad has been working out diligently at Patterson Field for the past couple of weeks and should be in top form to go against the Chester outfit.

Manager Fowler will not have much of a problem in selecting his starting outfit, judging from performances to date, with last year's club practically intact. Talbot will be gone from first base and Dewey Morgan from third, but Watson will be shifted from shortstop to the hot corner and the first base job is no problem with several first class applicants on the job.

At least three candidates have been working out at shortstop and, in the preliminary workouts, any one of the trio seems to possess the necessary qualifications.

It is doubtful if any of the six league clubs is working any harder than Ed McVeigh's American Billiards who several weeks ago took over the Victory Motor franchise. The Billiards got First Baseman Talbot, Third Baseman Morgan and Pitcher Cracker Howell in the deal that sent Bill Mundy to the Turk Nash combine and while the deal was considered by Owner Mike Turk of the Motors a good one for his club, Pilot McVeigh holds that it was equally advantageous to his outfit.

Elmer Carey, former manager of the old Grand Athletics, will help the Billiards out a little in the matter of coaching, although he will not attempt the job of field manager, those duties resting on the shoulders of Ed McVeigh. The Billiards will be smartly outfitted in new uniforms purchased by Owner Ted Ganas.

Saul McCoy, who piloted the Newell Laughlin club to a runner-up position two years ago and a notch higher to the championship last season, is looking over his material, working the boys out at Columbian park and saying little.

McCoy believes he wil have a pretty good outfit at Knowles, Taylor and Knowles this summer.

Business Manager Joe Dickey, of Laughlin, is inspecting his array of catchers following the release of Ted Hunselman recently. Dickey has been pretty busy on his baseball duties in recent weeks but confidently believes he'll have a real Laughlin club again. Several promising candidates will be on the job for Hunselman's place.

City League clubs of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell will "not know the old place" when they perform against the Wellsville club at Wellsville.

The down river aggregation has been right up on a baseball proposition that should help to boost the pastime there considerably this summer and no small part of the club's program is the erection of a fence at Nicholson park, below Eighteenth street.

JOHANNES DRUGS WIN FROM 'Y. M.'

Bucher's Homer With Bases Full Decides Issue.

The Johannes Drugs soft ball squad of the Review-Tribune Recreation League defeated the Y. M. C. A. nine in an exhibition engagement last evening at Northside. The final count was 13 to 9.

The score was tied, 9 to 9, from the fourth inning until the sixth when Bucher crashed out a home run with the bases loaded.

Stanley contributed a few fielding sensations, snagging a long fly ball, on the run, in the first inning.

Bucher, of the Drugs and Diamond of the Y. M. C. A. were the clouting stars of the contest.

The batteries: Drugs—Smith, Bucher and Riddle; Y. M. C. A.—Gaston and Roush.

The Johannes Drugs are in the market for additional practice games with Recreation League teams and are open for a contest on Thursday night. For booking arrangements, team managers can call Johannes' Drug Store.

At least two of the league squads should be in top form when the Recreation league season gets under way the week of May 9. The Roselawns and the National Furnitures, it is reported, are holding down the playground in Second street pretty regularly these nights an unlimited exhibition series of their own.

The Laughlin Acmes also have been drilling pretty regularly at Newell and should be lined up strongly for the lid lifting encounters.

Although a number of the squads have not yet got down the practice operations, they will probably swing into action in the next week or so, arrangements being under way for a number of exhibition engagements.

NEBRASKA IN LINE FOR ANNUAL A. A. U. GAMES

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 27. — There seems to be slightly more than an excellent chance, if you will pardon my British, that the championship games of the Amateur Athletic Union will go to either Lincoln or Omaha, with the proposed bids of New York and the east in general running a distant last. The writer was tipped today that the Nebraska cities simply cannot miss, unless there is a marked change in official sentiment some time before the actual award is made ten days or two weeks hence.

The board of governors at present is voting on the formality of a reaward, made necessary by the decision of New Orleans officials to withdraw patronage for the meeting because of their apprehension that the appearance of colored athletes in competition with white men might create an unwelcome impression in the southern town.

When the re-award is officially finite, the disposition of the meet will be placed in the hands of the championship committee, which will receive and review all bids. To date, four inquiries have been made, two each from the east and west. But the west is due.

The last games were held in connection with the sesqui-centennial exposition in Philadelphia. The 1928 affair is certain to go to either Philadelphia or Boston, as it will be the official trials for the Olympic team and the successful survivors must be massed on the Atlantic coast for an immediate sailing. So it seems to be almost imperative that the west be duly recognized this year, the south having waived its chance.

Both Lincoln and Omaha made early inquiries as soon as it was definitely established that New Orleans had withdrawn. The Nebraska cities wanted to know if the A. A. U. would consider a western site. The A. A. U. wishes to announce that it would, will and still is considering the matter so deeply that tentative offers from the Yankee stadium in New York and the town of East Orange, N. J., have gone no further than the ante-room.

Neither of the probable Nebraska bidders is favored over the other at this time; in fact, it is understood that A. A. U. men in that section have no particular choice, so long as the award goes to their states.

It, therefore, will boil down to the question of which town can make the most attractive offer in the way of housing and competitive facilities since the cost of putting on the program is not likely to exceed $6,000, according to an estimate made to the writer today. Because of the necessary delay in preparations, the date of the meet probably will be postponed to the first week in August.

This will not find particular favor on the West Coast, where they dispose of their track and field season early in the summer; yet stanuch support of the Nebraska sites is expected from California and, perforce, the entire west. As a matter of fact, I am informed that about the only way Lincoln or Omaha can lose the games is to prove that they don't want them.

DICK EVANS HEADLINES ZILL'S CARD

Will Trade Punches With Al Webster Friday.

YOUNGSTOWN, April 27. — Dick Evans, leading middleweight mauler of the section, will take on Al Webster, tough, hard hitting scrapper in the main bout of Al Zill's fight card Friday night at Rayen-Wood auditorium here.

Evans has kayoed California Jack O'Brien and Jimmy Darrah in his last two starts. O'Brien gave the impression of being a pushover for any real battler and Darrah became careless after he had dropped Evans once and reaped the penalty.

In the semi-windup bout, Mike Hector, middleweight champ of the Navy, will swap punches with Jack Herman of Cleveland. Both are of the slugging type.

The third six-rounder will feature Phil Goldstein of Cleveland and Pee Wee Donald of Buffalo, bantams.

Pee Wee is a brother of Hughey Manson, former national flyweight champ. Critics who have seen both of them work rate Donald as the better prospect of the two.

Goldstein will need little introduction to district followers of the padded mittens as he has boxed here on several occasions.

Promoter Zill has not announced the balance of the card. The early ticket sale indicates a capacity house.

JACK TO ATTEND NEW YORK DINNER

NEW YORK, April 27.—Indications that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, will return to the ring here in the near future were seen today in the announcement by Promoter Tex Rickard that Dempsey will be in New York on May 16 to attend the dinner the Madison Square Garden club is giving the promoter.

Gene Tunney also will attend the dinner.

Gus Wilson, the former champion's trainer, was to confer with Rickard today, and Gene Normile, business manager for Dempsey in his fight with Tunney, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow. This sudden epidemic of conferences strengthens reports that a bout involving Dempsey is brewing. Dempsey hardly would make the jaunt across the continent just to get a free meal.

Wilson, who arrived from the west yesterday, declared that Dempsey is rapidly rounding into shape at his training camp in California in the expectation of meeting Tunney again. He said Jack is "working like a horse" and is down to 200 pounds.

Collett Tops Handicaps.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Miss Glenna Collett, twice winner of the national women's golf title, tops the list of handicaps of the Women's Eastern Golf association with a plus two, according to an announcement made public today by the association. Mrs. G. Henry Stetson of the Huntington Valley Country club is second with a plus one and seven women have been placed at scratch. Nearly 1,000 others received handicaps of less than eighteen.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

CREDIT GIVEN TO FINANCIERS FOR BETTER MEXICAN FEELING

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—International financiers are so often accused of making trouble between governments that it's lovely to run into a case where they're given credit for straightening out trouble instead of causing it.

CALLES

Hardly more than a few days ago, as all must recall, relations between Washington and President Calles' administration in Mexico City were strained to the danger point. Today everything appears perfectly harmonious.

The strain can't exactly be described as having been relieved, because the relief of a strain involves the application of some sort of liniment, which you can see, being poured on and rubbed in, to take the pain out.

No such treatment was observable in this instance.

The pain and the strain simply vanished.

Who performed this miracle? "They say" international financiers performed it.

THE story can't be verified. The international financiers are doing no bragging about it. It simply is common talk in Washington.

But listen, and draw your own conclusions.

When Plutarco E. Calles became president of Mexico, his country had a lot of bonds outstanding, on which not even interest had been paid for a dickens of a long time.

The bondholders, in the United States and elsewhere, represented by the international financiers aforesaid, were badly worried about 'em.

Calles announced that he was going to begin paying interest on these obligations. He did begin and has continued paying it. Is it necessary to say that the international financiers were strong for Plutarco Calles?

AFTER this had been going on for quite a while Calles got into a serious jam with some foreign oil interests which claimed petroleum properties in Mexico.

The situation rapidly degenerated from bad to a blame sight worse.

Notes flew thick and fast between Washington and Calles. War's a harsh word, but it was mentioned by Senator Borah and others.

IF Mexico got into a war it was easy to see what would happen to the rest of the international financiers' interest money.

An emissary of the international financiers streaked it from New York to Mexico City. Having seen Calles hot-footedly back he came, bound for Washington.

He brought a complete explanation of the whole difficulty, right in his brief case, with him.

It seemed that Calles had been fed on a lot of forged documents, purporting to come from Washington. They were so worded as to make him think Washington was trying to blackjack him. Was it any wonder that they'd put his back up and caused him to make sassy answers!

FROM that minute to this there's been no further talk of friction between Washington and Calles.

It's true that there's been considerable speculation as to the identity of the author of those forgeries, but it's the purest guesswork, so far as the public's concerned. The subject's one on which Washington's profoundly mysterious.

The international financiers, having accomplished their beneficent work, modestly faded from the Washington landscape.

For the time being, at least, the oil interests also have subsided, possibly to see if they can't think up something as telling as those forged documents.

Gordon - Neeley Revue Comes To Ceramic Theatre, Thursday

Seven Singers and Dancers Appear in Conjunction With Zane Grey Picture, "The Mysterious Rider."

Coming from the Keith-Albee Temple theatre, Detroit, Mich., the Gordon and Neeley revue, featuring singing, dancing and artistic novelties, will appear at the Ceramic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the Zane Grey picture, "The Mysterious Rider," starring Jack Holt.

Gordon and Neeley are musical comedy stars who have made the amusement world laugh for the past ten years, and entertained kings and queens abroad.

The revue, with seven people in the cast, is one of the brightest offerings booked this season. After the local engagement, these artists move directly eastward, and will be seen in the large New York theatres.

Man's battle with the desert, his never-ending fight to wrest a living from the arid wastelands, is the background into which is woven Grey's story, "The Mysterious Rider."

The fast riding Jack Holt plays the title role of Bent Wade, whose life is in danger at the hands of the homesteaders because of his suspected duplicity. The sequences in which he proves his innocence, at the same time gaining them back their meagre lands which they were in danger of losing, form one of the most exciting motion pictures of the year.

prints available for distribution has never been sufficient to supply the demand.

Most popular of the pictures that have been produced is that entitled "Out of the Shadows." It has been shown for five years and is still going strong—a record of which any of the producers out in Hollywood, or anywhere else, would be proud. This film tells the story of the appearance of animal tuberculosis on Henry Benton's farm and its communication to his daughter, Mary, through the milk of an infected cow; of the clean-up of the farm and Benton's acquiring a herd of dairy cattle accredited as free from tuberculosis; of Mary's departure for a sanitarium, and of her return, restored to health, three years later.

Another picture greatly in demand is called "Poor Mrs. Jones." It depicts a farm woman who was unhappy, dissatisfied, and sorry for herself because of the isolated life she led. She goes to visit a sister in the city who lives in a two-room-and-kitchenette flat, and after two weeks of that cramped sort of life she is glad to get back to the farm and decides to live happy ever afterward. The picture is designed to teach a lesson in appreciation of the advantages of country life. Its popularity, it has been suggested, may be explained in part by the interest farmers take in seeing that their wives view it and get the lesson.

Some of the pictures, notably those taken in the national parks and forest reserves, have rare scenic value and interest. Others of the "westerns" rival Hollywood's best with scenes of broncho busting, roping and tying, and other exhibitions of horsemanship and cowboy prowess. And all of them, be it noted, are primarily of marked educational value.

that. And when he sprang up and hurried to meet her his eyes rested on his slim strong shoulders and his long hands. He didn't stride like an actor; of anything he was awkward. The face was sensitive, with a nice long nose and a rather wide mouth that broke quickly into a smile. Stirred as she already was, the mere sight of him here in her own living room and the grip of his hand stirred her the more. He was a gentleman. He silenced her. After all the pseudo-gentlemen of the picture lot, with their elaborate overdressing and their extremes of manner, his manner, his pleasantly respectful look and his careless way of wearing his clothes, as if he didn't know what he had on and didn't care, was almost a delightful sort of shock. She could remember seeing gentlemen occasionally back in New York and day-dreaming about them. There were some here in Hollywood, of course, but in this atmosphere of advertising—of push, press clamor, of what the picture people themselves boiled down into the single expressive word "showmanship"—they never seemed to have any real place. You were hardly aware of them.

Arthur slipped, unobserved, from the room. He had learned to do that.

She said—she tried to say it in an easy natural way, something that would sound like the way he wore his clothes—

"Won't you sit down?"

She dropped down on a window-seat herself; on her foot, wondering the next moment if she shouldn't have sat up more properly.

"It's awfully good of you to see me in this informal way, Miss John. Mr. Hamlin told me you weren't busy now."

"Yes, so he explained. I suppose you're tired. It must be a good deal of a strain."
